Official Washington Vexed At Dallying At London Naval Parley

Distinct Note Of Pessimism Sounded On Capitol Hill

Action Is Wanted; Delegates "Broke" But Afraid To Ask For More Money

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—A distinct note of pessimism over the prospective accomplishments of the London naval conference has developed in Washington this week. It has grown to such proportions that administration leaders were somewhat worried today over the possibility that the situation may be given a critical airing in congress, which would be embarrassing for the administration as well as for the American delegates.
The enforced recess of the conference, due to the French ministerial upset, the now practical certainty that the conference cannot accomplish any material naval reduction, and the persistent demand of the French for a treaty of security, have combined to make congress exceedingly pessimistic concerning the whole prospect at London.

Delegates About "Broke"
It is because of fear of "stirring things up" on Capitol Hill that the administration will refrain at this time from asking congress for additional appropriations for the American delegation, notwithstanding that the initial appropriation of $200,000 is about exhausted, and the delegation is about "broke."
Notwithstanding efforts of administration leaders to soft-pedal public discussion of the developments at London, various members of congress have begun to air opinions about them. Thus far they have been confined to off-the-floor utterances, but if the subject is introduced into general debate, particularly senate debate, the outlook is one which administration leaders view with some trepidation.

Critical Attitude
The critical attitude which many members of congress are now assuming toward the conference is not confined to the old irreconcilable group, nor to the so-called navy men, who might be expected to be critical. It cuts across party lines to include even those democrats of the Wilsonian (Continued On Page Two)

Woman Is Killed By Gas Fumes In Home In Scranton

Four Others Seriously Poisoned By Seeping Gas Fumes—Many Others Threatened

(International News Service)
SCRANTON, Pa., Feb. 21.—Poison gas fumes seeping from a main believed to have been disrupted by a mine setting, caused the death of one woman, seriously poisoned four other persons and threatened many others in West Scranton today.
Mrs. Peter Rupp, 70, was found dead in her home when a workman broke in after detecting the gas odor and getting no response to his rapping.
Peter Rupp, the husband, was found unconscious where he had fallen on the floor in his desperate efforts to reach a window in the bedroom to get relief.
John Rupp, 35, a son was rushed to the hospital here with his father.
Next door to the Rupp, police called to the scene, found Mrs. Mary Armfield, 64, and her son, Sidney, 32, overcome by the poisonous fumes.
Others in the neighborhood were aroused before they were overcome. Gasping for air as the racking fumes grasped at their lungs, the residents of the entire neighborhood were aided in their escape by police and citizens who came to the rescue.
The fumes were first noted by a workman who immediately summoned police and sounded the alarm.
The death-dealing fumes are thought to have been freed when underground shifting of mine shafts loosened the joints of the pipe.
No other damage from the breakage was reported, although fears were expressed at first that an explosion might follow.

South Siders Have Banquet

Board Of Trade Urges Road Improvement To West Pittsburg

D. C. DAVIES ACTS AS TOASTMASTER

With about 75 men in attendance, the South Side Board of Trade got away to an impressive start Thursday evening when a banquet was held in the basement of the Central Christian church. The Board of Trade was organized by recently and the first banquet was thought to be an experiment. The fact that so many attended testified to the interest in the organization.
At 7:45 the guests sat down to a dinner served by the women of the Central Christian church and following it, President Alec Samuels opened the meeting with a brief address of explanation.
He then introduced the toastmaster of the evening, D. C. Davies, who handled the program in his usual interesting fashion.
Three Speakers
Mayor William H. Gillespie was the guest of honor at the meeting and spoke briefly at the opening of the meeting. He congratulated the merchants upon their aggressiveness and promised the co-operation of the city officials for anything that would help develop New Castle.
Three speakers were on the program and were followed by several extemporaneous addresses by men present. The first speaker of the evening was Attorney Harry Frank who spoke on the advantage of team work in such an organization. He pointed out that such an organization would not run itself, that it must have the support and co-operation of all the (Continued On Page Two)

EXPLOSION WRECKS ABANDONED STATION FOUR MEN ARE DEAD

Coroner Caldwell Leads Party Investigating Fire Ruins In Search For Men Believed Trapped In Ruins

(BULLETIN 9 A. M.)
With the extinguishing of the fire about nine o'clock this morning, Coroner Caldwell reported that four badly burned bodies had been found in the ruins, all believed to be men. The bodies are badly burned. No identification has as yet been made.
Two autos were burned in the fire, as well as the building.

Coroner James P. Caldwell, was called to Edenburg early this morning for the purpose of investigating what is believed to be the death of three and possibly four men.

About 2:10 a. m. with a terrific din the old abandoned passenger station at Edenburg, now used to store gasoline, burst into flames. The blast rocked the community of Edenburg, and awakened almost the entire neighborhood. Flames soon enveloped the structure, which stands along the Pennsylvania railroad.

The fire was discovered by J. W. Leiper, of Edenburg, who in turn notified I. M. Hofmeister and together the men flagged down the east-bound Pennsy trains to prevent possible further damage.

The building burned to the ground before aid could arrive.

Hannah Again Changes Story

New Confession Absolves Pair Accused In Statement Yesterday

(BULLETIN)
WOOSTER, O., Feb. 21.—Following another grilling to which Charles Hannah was subjected today, the confessed slayer of young Melvin Horst gave Wayne county authorities another "confession", absolving Tony La Faccia and Charles Tressko from any participation in the brutal killing of the Orrville boy.
Hannah reiterated his admission of slaying Melvin.

Officials immediately began with renewed effort to question the confessed boy-killer regarding what disposition was made of the lad's body.

Former Story False

In his confession today Hannah declared he did not even know La Faccia and Tressko, stating that part of his previous official admission, claiming La Faccia and Tressko had planned the murder at Akron, was false.
Hannah told investigators that he alone was responsible for Melvin's death.
The officials refused to divulge any further revelations which the 61-year-old killer may have made. They stated they would continue with an intensive grilling of Hannah until they were satisfied he had made a clean breast of everything and had divulged the true information as to what disposal was made of Melvin Horst's remains.

SNAKES TO STAR IN TALKING FILMS

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Feb. 22.—The next "talkie" will co-star rattlesnakes and other reptiles, which are supposed to have beautiful reproductive voices, according to Raymond L. Dittmars, curator of reptiles at the New York Zoological Gardens, who will photograph the snakes.

It must be spring for the janitor is busy as he can be, and he ordered us all to clear up our desks, and get rid of the junk for he was wanting to clean in a larger way, and he wanted to clean it now, and when janitors get ambitious, folks, the spring must be here, I trow. All winter long he has worked around, but never got going in high, with now and then say a little rest, or a chat as he passed me by. But there is no time for a chat just now, he's going in high and say, the place is as clean as a newborn pin, as clean, right, today

PA NEW OBSERVES

Yesterday's maximum temperature set another high mark when it reached 67. It fell to 30 degrees this morning, a variation of 37 degrees in one day.

Early travellers this morning had a difficult time on the road because of the foggy, murky atmosphere.

There is quite a contrast between yesterday's temperature and the weather a year ago. Last year at this time there was a heavy fall of snow covering the ground and the weather was quite cold.

Not quite sure whether it was another sign of spring or not but Pa New saw a woman strolling down Washington street Thursday afternoon with nary a sign of a coat. Spring or a new gown might have been the indication.

Another butterfly makes its debut. This morning as Frank Restivo, 1322 East Washington street, opened his door, there sat a beautiful big butterfly with wings outspread. It is a beautiful yellow, with the center of the wings of a reddish hue and blue spots here and there.

Postmaster E. W. Crawford explains why the post office flag has not been hoisted for several days. He said the flag pole broke a day or so ago and he has been unable to find a climber who would ascend the straight and narrow rod. Under a special regulation flags must fly over government buildings from sunup to sunset. In case some wondered, this is why.

Checkers and chess come in for plenty of play at the Y. M. C. A. Daily the lobby playing board is used by enthusiasts of one game or the other. Several games were hotly contested on Thursday.

Third day in succession of mid-summer weather has created a real spring like spirit about the city. Weather forecasts of "colder" have as yet proved unfounded.

Daily Weather Report

Weather statistics for the 24-hour period ending at 9 o'clock this morning are as follows:
Maximum temperature, 67.
Minimum temperature, 30.
No precipitation.
River stage, 64 feet and falling.

Delegates Back From Convention

Gunton, Genkinger And Hoskins Return From Easton

PLANNING PROBLEMS OF STATE DISCUSSED

Matthew Gunton, Sr., chairman of the city planning commission, Councilman L. G. Genkinger and Assistant City Engineer Harry Hoskins, arrived home last night from Easton, Pa., where they attended the fifth annual convention of the Pennsylvania Association of Planning Commissioners, as the official representatives of this city.

Mr. Gunton, who is recognized as one of the pioneers in the matter of zoning regulations for a city, was again highly honored by this organization, by being re-elected as vice-president for the third consecutive time and being called upon to serve on the executive committee of the convention and as chairman of the Resolutions Committee.

State College Next Place
The meeting of the association in 1931 will be held at State College, Pa., and in order that the delegates may be enabled to travel to and from the convention by automobile and in more favorable weather than is usually obtainable in February, the meeting time of the convention was moved up to April.

Go Greatest Distance
The convention was most interesting according to Mr. Gunton and there were some excellent papers presented at the affair. The three New Castle delegates were accorded special honors due to the fact that they had traveled the greatest distance to be present at the convention.

Easton, located on the Delaware river, which is the far eastern boundary of the state, separating it from New Jersey, is located but a short distance from Delaware Water Gap, one of the scenic wonders of the eastern part of the state and in a district which affords many sights of interest, but according to Mr. Gunton, it was impossible for the delegates to see any of the interesting sights outside the city of Easton, due to the icy condition of the steep highways of the district.

The Delaware river at Easton is but little wider than the Shenango river here and according to Mr. Gunton this was a rather unusual experience for him, as when he resided in Philadelphia many years ago, he was accustomed to know the Delaware as a magnificent broad river.

Jersey is Phillipsburg, a city of considerable size, although not so large as Easton. Mayor S. S. Horn of Easton, as well as other prominent citizens of that district have been trying for years to get a fine bridge, which will cost approximately $5,500,000 built across the river between the two cities, but as it is a matter of two states, it has taken time to have the matter considered favorably, according to Mr. Gunton.

He was informed by Mayor Horn that it now looked as though the bridge would soon be authorized, because of the apparent need, due to the great amount of tourist traffic, which centers at that point. There is a small bridge across the river at this point, but it only serves for the most part to block the heavy flow of traffic.

CHIMNEY FIRE CALLS FIREMEN

Firemen from No. 6 and central departments were called to Carson street shortly after 12 o'clock today by an alarm from box 64, where it was found that a blazing chimney had caused the alarm. There was no resulting damage.

Want Roads To Volant Finished

Delegation Visits County Commissioners This Afternoon Seeking Improvement

Lawrence county commissioners were visited this afternoon by a delegation of residents from Volant, who asked that two road projects into the town be completed as soon as possible.

Last fall the road from East Brook to Volant was completed, but due to a miscalculation the road was not completed into the city, the contract calling for only a portion of the total distance. A stretch of approximately a half mile exists between the end of the pavement and the center of the town. The Volant citizens are asking that this be completed.

They are also desirous of having a two-mile stretch between Volant and the Perry Highway completed next year. This would give them an improved road to the east, north and south.

The road between New Wilmington and Volant, which is an ash road, is in fairly good condition.

Rev. C. S. Joshua Presents Fourth In Series Of Sermons

The Sunday evening service in the Croton avenue Methodist church will mark the fourth of a series of evening services being given by the pastor, Rev. C. S. Joshua, on the Ten Commandments.

"Remember the Sabbath Day to Keep it Holy" will be the commandment under discussion Sunday evening and the pastor announces that this will be a vital sermon as the trend of the times today is away from this commandment entirely.

A crowded auditorium has listened intently to his discussion of the first three commandments and from the interest being manifested, there will no doubt be standing room only to hear this sermon.

Thompson's Finger Has Been Disabled

Entitled To Compensation But Solons Make Protective Move

Council in session at the city building today heard Ray Thompson, former city policeman, tell how the forefinger of his left hand had been permanently disabled by performing his duty.

He told council he had received no compensation.

Thompson, while a policeman, with Robert Latara, patrol driver, had received a call saying a man had been wounded with a knife.

Thompson attempted to open the patrol barn doors and they buckled. His hand slid through the window panes inflicting a terrible gash.

He has lost the use of the finger, as a tendon was severed.

The former policeman said he had been treated by a doctor who had advised him that an operation might and might not bring back use of the finger.

The city solicitor said that Thompson is plainly entitled to 35 weeks compensation but as a legal move today employed a doctor to examine Thompson's finger.

Bostonians Still Proud Of Historic Landmarks

(International News Service) BOSTON, Feb. 21.—Even before the tea party, staid old Boston took pride in her spirit of patriotism, the maintenance of her historic landmarks and the upkeeping of the Revolutionary day traditions.

Mentioning the public grounds situated in the heart of the city known as the Boston Common and Public Garden, the Boston Business monthly publication of the Boston Chamber of Commerce says:

"Boston Common dates back to the beginning of Boston's history, its existence and preservation are due to the wise forethought of the first settlers."

Historic records show that shortly after the settlement of the town of Boston, the Boston Common was turned over to a training field and used very much as it is today. The public grazing cattle on this plot was a common practice even up until the year 1830.

Farm Laborer Is Jailed Following Shooting Affray

Brooding Over Loss Of Job On Farm, Man Returns Wounds Two Men And Young Girl

YOUNG MAN IS LIKELY TO DIE

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Feb. 21.—John Pack, 45, farm laborer, today was held in jail here charged with the shooting of his former employer, the latter's four-year-old daughter and a former fellow farm hand.

Roy Stevens, 26, who once worked side by side on the farm of Charles Dietz with Pack, was the most seriously injured. Stevens was rushed to Sewickley Valley hospital, where physicians say his recovery is doubtful.

Dietz and his daughter Helen Louise, were less seriously wounded. Both were treated at the hospital and later returned to their home.

Starts Shooting

Disgruntled over the loss of his position on the Dietz farm, Pack is believed to have brooded over his imagined grievance against the farm owner, culminating in the shooting affray.

Pack appeared at the Dietz home last night. Without warning he leveled a shotgun at Dietz and opened fire on his former employer. Dietz ran into the house with Pack in pursuit. Once in the house Pack opened fire at pointblank range. Stevens fell to the floor, riddled with buckshot pellets and a moment later the four-year-old girl collapsed from minor wounds.

Pack was taken into custody by police from the Carnegie station.

Without further thought Scruggs swung both fists with reckless abandon. Both bandits fell under the impact of Scruggs blows and Scruggs proceeded to the store, paid his bill and then telephoned the police a report of the bandits.

Drastic Economic Reform Urged For Germany Under Young Plan

By OTTO D. TOLISCHUS International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, Feb. 21.—A drastic reform of Germany's entire economic, financial and social welfare policy as the first condition for making the Young reparation plan work is demanded by Dr. Paul Silverberg, noted German industrial leader.

In an interview with International News Service, Dr. Silverberg declared: "A drastic financial, economic and sociological reform is absolutely necessary for the execution of the Young plan. We do not know whether we shall be able to fulfill the Young plan after the reform. We do know that Germany won't be able to fulfill the Young plan without such a reform."

Dr. Silverberg's demand was voiced following the disclosure of the grave financial situation which the government faced toward the end of the year which led to a scramble for an American loan of $100,000,000 in order to pay salaries of government officials and an immediate raise of taxes to the tune of some 400,000,000 marks.

Outcry is Raised.

The great outcry against this situation, which almost led to the overthrow of the cabinet, Dr. Silverberg said, proved that a large part of the German people is determined "to enforce the government to bring order into its finances."

"It shows our earnest decision to bring our house in order by our own strength, and not by constant loans, especially abroad. This should be reviewed as a sign of internal strength, and should give reason for optimism rather than pessimism."

"If the present government wants social administrative organizations. Such reforms are certain when public opinion demands them, and we are on the best way to them.

"Already, there is general resistance to the money squandering of the various administrations, especially the municipalities."

"If all the many governmental authorities would reduce their expenditures by only five per cent that alone would mark a saving of 800,000,000 marks."

"If the present government should be overthrown later, Dr. Silverberg voiced the demand of Germany business for the appointment of a cabinet of strong, well-tried and absolutely non-partisan administrative officials. Such a government, he said, "should have authority to reform the administration with the aim of making sweeping economies, and at the same time carry out the demand of business for a healthy economic policy, free from all collectivistic tendencies, based on individual enterprise alone."

Dr. Silverberg did not propose any particular candidate to head such a business government. I learned from other industrial circles, however, that strong movement is under way to recall Dr. Hans Luther, former chancellor and finance minister, to the chancellorship of the Reich. As finance minister during the critical days following the inflation in 1923, Dr. Luther brought order out of chaos, stabilized the German currency, balanced the budget and made possible the establishment of the Dawes plan which gave Germany a breathing spell for recuperation.

LAST YEAR'S INCREASED TRAFFIC TOLL

PRELIMINARY figures from the Highway Department at Harrisburg indicate that the death toll from automobiles in Pennsylvania last year was 2225, an increase of less than eight per cent over the preceding year. This is lower than the ratio of gain in the number of operators, a significant factor in trying to determine the cause for the rising trend of fatalities.

Secretary Eynon sees little relation between the legal speed limit of various states and their casualty statistics. This is probably true, for other factors, like carelessness, may cause a greater number of accidents than a speed in excess of the statutory provision. In fact, speed laws are broken as often as the Volstead act; and nobody ever hears about the matter in either case unless some untoward event brings the violation to public notice.

Ten states besides Pennsylvania set a forty-mile maximum and six others permit forty-five miles. All the rest are below the Pennsylvania standard except Connecticut, Michigan and Montana, where no limit is fixed, but the driver is rigidly held to account for the safety of all traffic. It would be interesting to have further data from the several states bearing upon the practical results of their speed policies.

MR. COOLIDGE ON HIS TRAVELS

The heartiness of the welcome which has greeted Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge in California is a reminder that the popularity of the former president continues unabated. In spite of his natural reserve and reticence, he undoubtedly fully appreciates the consideration which he is receiving from the American people.

Although he sent word in advance that he and his wife were merely travelling as tourists, and that he did not wish any unusual attention, he was greeted at Los Angeles by an immense crowd of citizens headed by Governor Young. He is to attend the annual banquet of the Chamber of Commerce of this enterprising city. He says in his whimsical way that he is willing to do anything while he is in California "except make a speech." Whether the persistence of those in charge of the affair will break down this resolution remains to be seen; it will probably be a test of will power on the part of a man who knows his own mind and those to whom boasting is almost a religion.

The former president admits that he hopes to visit and explore Hollywood before he returns to the East. Smilingly he says: "I've been in the movies a long time, but not in a professional way. I'm not thinking of taking up the business, but I do wish to see the pictures made." All this goes to show that Mr. Coolidge has his human side, and that he also possesses a keen sense of humor.

Some of the wisecracks seen in this "swing around the circle" an effort to keep himself in the limelight so that if he should desire it he might in the future return to public life. One of the reasons for not taking this suggestion too seriously lies in the fact that Mr. Coolidge, without any effort on his part, might have been easily renominated and re-elected to the presidency asserts the Philadelphia Inquirer. He has virtually declined to become a candidate for the senate from his own state, and there is nothing to make us believe that he has any other office in mind. But Mr. Coolidge does not like to advertise himself. It is safe to say that he has had many a quiet chuckle over the vague intimations that everything he may do or say has some deep-laid purpose.

HOW DO YOU READ?

"Tell me what you eat, and I will tell you what you are," has cried a publicist so often that he has coined a household axiom. Well might another say: "Tell me what you read and I will tell you what you are!"

The mind is the house in which we live more truly than is the body. If we furnish the mind grudgingly we must live in a garish house. If we furnish the mind carelessly, we must live in a slovenly house. If we take our mental furniture only from the past, we shall live in the past alone. If we take our mental furniture only from the past, we shall live in the past alone. If we take it only from the faddish notions of the present we shall live amid fads and foibles, which vanish ere we know them.

But if, on the other hand, our mental diet is balanced, comprised of the foods tested by time and sauced and spiced by the piquancy of the present, we may live a balanced, ordered life.

We can live with impunity upon poisons and dark, wild, disordered thoughts into our minds no more than we can day after day find strength and health from spurious foods, hastily prepared, indigestible.

To read well, read discriminatingly, widely, thoroughly.

What we read becomes part and parcel of us.

Next to money the hardest thing to keep is a secret.

If the fiction characters cuss, it's a high-brow magazine.

OH, THESE WOMEN!

By LEOLA ALLARD

Giving away babies is a perilous business. In answer to the query of a woman who wanted to adopt a baby, and whom I told to go to hospitals and orphanages, I receive a letter from a woman who wants to give away her baby boy, born this year. "A gorgeous baby," she tells me, and you can see she loves him. But her husband disappeared. Didn't want the bother of a wife and family. Told his friends they were too much of a care.

Of course the mother with three to support (she has two other children), didn't have much care—just three babies to clothe and feed! I've often wondered why they didn't hang men like that father.

The best she can do, thinks this mother, is to give this latest baby out for adoption.

I've seen mothers do that before and in spite of the fact that they are called cruel and heartless, I never yet saw one give up her child without a terrible struggle. Often they change their minds many times before the actual parting. Invariably they do it because they want the baby to have a chance to grow up in comfort and get an education. Having helped in finding homes for hundreds of babies, I know what the mother goes through and how she feels.

Sometimes a mother like this one sees an advertisement and thinks it's a great chance. I quickly told her that I knew nothing of the woman who wrote for a baby and would not give out her name. But I am going to see that baby and find out what's to become of it.

The kindest advice I know of is to urge these mothers to have their children adopted through regular channels where investigations are made, or through some one whom they know would think only of the baby's welfare. The mother who carelessly gives her child out to a stranger will have years of hard luck and unhappiness, I'm sure of it. There are too many ways of doing the thing right, when necessity demands. There is no excuse for dropping a helpless human being on someone's doorstep or leaving it for anybody to find.

It's eternal bad luck for you, mother, so you better stop and try, mother. (White me, care this paper.)

Spread Out Too Thin.
All Drink, Says He.
Great Chance For Hoover.
Gold, Silver, Lead.

By ARTHUR G. BRISBANE (Copyright, 1930, King Features Syn., Inc.)

"Don't spread yourself out too thin." Brokers give that advice when your margin is small. Real estate men give it when your mortgage is too big.

Britain's empire is spread out a little thin, with its flag all over the world, seen, as Rudyard Kipling observed, by the heavy bear in the north, and the savage, dancing naked, at the equator.

Contrast France—small, compact, concentrated country—with the thinly spread British Empire.

Britain lent billions to France in the war. Now Britain is hard up, harassed by high taxes, compelled to pay a "dole" to millions of unemployed.

France has a billion dollars, gold, on deposit in the United States.

France, with no unemployed, has brought in hundreds of thousands of laborers from Italy and elsewhere.

France has the greatest fighting air fleet in the world, three times as big as that of any other nation, and British leaders tell you privately "we must be polite to France."

Britain has 300,000,000 Hindus and one thin Ghindhi, with one Russian Bear, to worry her in India.

She has her race troubles in South Africa.

She wants the biggest navy in the world, she is accustomed to having it. She can't afford it.

Luckily she can make Uncle Sam do whatever she wants. But France says "I will do as I please."

The dry-wet fight continues. Congressmen Murphy, head of business concerns in New York, says he knows no "leading financial banker, industrialist, or manufacturer, who does not break the dry law."

That seems conclusive. Representative Michener, Republican from Michigan, asked "How about Henry Ford?"

"I do not know him," replied Murphy. The statesmen all laughed.

Henry Ford is as dry as the inside of Tut-ank-amen's mummy. It will interest you to know that doctors advised him to drink red wine, favorite beverage of Thomas Jefferson, and Benjamin Franklin, but Ford wouldn't do it.

Suggest government operation and you are told "The government doesn't know enough, or isn't honest enough."

But why couldn't government experiment in government power ownership at Muscle Shoals?

That would involve only engineering problems.

The financial problem of seeing how much the people can be made to pay for water, that the Lord causes to run down hill is simple.

President Hoover understands the engineering part, surely.

What a wonderful chance he has at Muscle Shoals, also at Boulder Dam, to show how wise the people were when they elected a great engineer President of the United States.

Conrad Hubert, who changed his name from Horowitz, made many millions, left $6,000,000 to useful charities, left $1,000,000 to his brother.

The brother, who sticks to his old-fashioned name, Horowitz, has been a humble court interpreter, and he says he will now devote his time to German opera and charity.

Why did the rich brother wait until he was dead to give a million dollars to his mother's other son?

Many of us forget the proverb often quoted by Nathan Straus:

"What you give in health is gold, what you give in sickness is silver, what you give after death is lead."

Claude Udwin is one of three sentenced to death yesterday for murdering Henry Sullivan, leader of a prison riot.

When sentenced to die, Udwin bowed ironically, saying, "O. K. Judge."

That spirit gangsters admire. Also that spirit leads to the electric chair.

To sentence those men to death as though they had premeditated an ordinary murder, seems severe.

Sullivan, who was killed, led a rebellion. The three convicts killed him.

If a guard had killed him, the guards would have been promoted, and a policeman was promoted yesterday for killing eight gangsters.

A senator tells the House Judiciary Committee the United States hires thugs to help prohibition enforcement.

New York's district attorney is told that officials of the Plasterers Union hire thugs to intimidate builders and, if necessary, set fire to apartment houses not built with proper payment of "racket profit" and in a manner to suit the plasterers.

Both statements are unpleasant. In war, nations hire men to kill other men. That dates from the Stone Age and must be accepted.

But the hired professional "killers" to enforce prohibition, or to strengthen the "union racket," leads to trouble.

It is not pleasant for the law-abiding citizen. In several states forbidden to own a pistol to read that in the past, as shown by government taxes, the sale of deadly weapons was three times as great as in the preceding year.

New York's legislature is planning a rather wholesale investigation of affairs in New York City. While they're on the subject, they might try and find out why so many streets are ways torn up.—The New London Day.

Hints and Dints

HORSE-SCOPE

"If the stars incite, stay in at night."

According to the stars there may be deceptions in the world of trade. The wise will refrain from disposing of their waste paper and scrap iron during this configuration.

There is an aspect in this day's horse-scope that warns against deceptions. Smart boys will be meticulous in telling the truth, especially if the act is staged in the third-degree room.

Children born on this day will always be very eager to wash the dishes. Casper Cuttlefish was born on this day and will be remembered as the man who never drank his home brew until it was at least a year old.

Famous Finales (News Item)

Most of the 425 hoodlums seized in the roundup last night, including Myles O'Donnell, reputed West Side gang chief, were released today. O'Donnell, however, was placed under $1,400 bond on a charge of disorderly conduct.

O'Donnell obtained his freedom because of a weak heart. He fainted when a photographer's flashlight boomed during the police showup last night.

AMERICANISM: Spoiling kids by failing to give a threatened spanking; trying to suppress crime by the same method.

True, dad got by without an education. But you'll notice he doesn't take a good manicure even yet.

The divorce evil continues, as it becomes increasingly harder to find wives dumb enough to think their husbands great men.

YOUTH NOT ALL

Don't sadly fool yourself that if youth is lost all is lost. Youth has no monopoly of success, no exclusive franchise in the achievements of life. When Abraham Lincoln was 40 years old he had little to his credit. He had served a term in congress and made little name for himself. He was a pretty good Illinois small city and country politician and that is about all. Even in 1860 when he was 59 years old, his achievements were not great and his ambitions not taken very seriously by many people. And in five years from that time he was dead. And yet, in five years, without youth, he put himself among the greatest of all Americans.

IMAGINATION AND WILL

The imagination is more powerful than the will. It is possible by the strong exercise of the will to force yourself to do many difficult things, to improve yourself in many things. But if by use of the imagination you can bring yourself into the state of really desiring to do something difficult, it is much easier to accomplish it. Will is powerful but imagination is more powerful.

THE BOOTLEG BATHER

There have been many different kinds of bootleggers in the history of mankind. Benjamin Franklin was a bootleg bather. In the day of the great philosopher, scientist, journalist, and patriot it was against city ordinance in Philadelphia to use water inside one's house for bathing. Franklin had a copper tub made in the form of a shoe and when he felt like it he slipped up to the attic quite secretly and had a bath.

Fortunately the ordinance has been repealed.

Advice On Cotton Planting Is Made Subject Of Debate

Problem Of Reduced Acreage Combined With Question Of Diversification In Minds Of Those Who Study Conditions

The difficulty of finding a solution of the problem of a surplus in cotton production is pointed out in discussion of the department of agriculture advice on the subject. It is recognized that reduced acreage ought to result in better conditions, and that diversification ought to help, but the debate concerning the means of achieving these ends continues.

"Experts in the department of agriculture," according to the BALTIMORE EVENING SUN, "are urging farmers to cut down on their acreage as the only satisfactory solution of the problem of overproduction. The logic of these agricultural experts is faultless, provided one grants their premise that the farmers are worried about overproduction. But why should the farmers worry? Let the bottom drop out of grain and cotton exports; let there be a surplus of supply over demand. The farmers have no reason to worry. John Smith, however, has already parted with $150,000,000 for their relief, and he is prepared to increase this sum to half a billion. Farmers can face the prospect of overproduction with a smile."

"The necessity of cotton-acreage reduction," says the NEW ORLEANS TIMES-PICAYUNE, "is affirmed by the federal board under way in nearly every southern state."

The New Orleans paper concludes that "the growing southern interest in dairying and live stock is one of the encouraging signs of southern progress toward a 'balanced agriculture' that, once achieved, should be lasting about them to reduce their cotton acreage in order that they might work out their own salvation and just as long have they steadfastly refused to show much concern about this sort of counsel. They have continued to plant as much cotton as they thought they could work in."

Independent outside suggestions emanating from their own leadership and independent, too, of what should have been their better judgment if they kept themselves well informed of market conditions. Now, however, they are hearing a new voice calling them into this line of action, the present wilderness. The Federal Farm board is saying some rather plain things to them in this regard. The board believes that last year's acreage was too large. It was the largest planted acreage of any year in history except 1925 and 1926. Nothing but crop failure in 1929 prevented a total yield of 16,000,000 bales in the belt. That is more American cotton than the world will take at a fair price, the board believes."

It is recalled by the BIRMINGHAM NEWS that, at a conference two years ago, the governors of Texas, Alabama and Mississippi were among the participants, and the News says as to the results: "Scientists and chemists from the Rio Grande to the Potomac were there to offer their joint opinion that reduction of cotton acreage was essential to save the south from bankruptcy. Since that distinguished conference was held things have gone from bad to worse. Now it is hoped that the power of the American Cotton Cooperative association will draw to its folds a majority of southern planters ready to pledge themselves—and to keep the pledges they make—for drastic reductions in acreage this spring. Only thereby may one reasonably hope that the tattered and weary figure of King Cotton descending the economic ladder will be arrested and begin to retrieve the rungs he has lost."

"Demand for cotton has fallen off," explains the RALEIGH NEWS AND OBSERVER, "because women have discarded numerous petticoats made of cotton and rayon and silk have become strong competitors. But the automobile industry has supplied a large demand. Other new demands are cotton airplane propellers, cotton plane wings, cotton parachutes and cotton street markers. A new use also has been found in road building consisting of a layer of cotton fabric topped by gravel and tar. It is the purpose of the Textile Institute, in cooperation with manufacturers, to create new demands, to introduce greater flexibility."

"With reduced cotton acreage," remarks the ANNISTON STAR, "the farmer has land to plant in in crops that will provide feed for his livestock and food for the family, and help him to be somewhat independent of the cotton crop. The plan of restricted acreage and that of diversified farming and larger yields on the acre

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

Slabtown was out in full bloom last night again. On the South Side, the new South Side Board of Trade got under way with a banquet, while up in the Elks Home, the former lads of the South Side held a banquet. Both events were well attended, and both of them went off well.

The new Board of Trade is not a competitive organization, but rather an augmentative organization. It is in reality a mutual helpfulness organization among the merchants of the South Side, much like the one organized among the merchants of the East Side. The purpose is to help the merchant to work out his problems, to feature the advantages of the South Side, and to provide a social common denominator.

The other meeting, that in the Elks Home was in the form of a reunion. The kids of the South Side of 25 years ago, are the men of every part of the city today, and they gathered from the four corners of the city last night. Beny Hartland had been exercising his appetite for a week and the reports from the banquet were that the exercise did a lot of good.

One of the things on the program of the South Side Board of Trade is a road from New Castle to West Pittsburg. They couldn't have started with a more laudable project for this road is among the ones vitally needed to this city.

There has always been an argument as to the way route number 77 was brought in from Wampum. There are those who have always insisted that the road should have crossed at Wampum to West Pittsburg and then up. Be that as it may, the road from West Pittsburg is needed for a number of reasons.

One of the biggest reasons I can think of is that large group of men working on the B. and O. railroad, the P. and L. E. railroad and the Universal Sanitary Manufacturing company. There must be nearly 1600 of them altogether, and the majority of them live in New Castle. They have a right to a decent road to get to work, and the start of the South Side Board of Trade in urging that road, will undoubtedly be followed by other organizations. The road would be a benefit to all the city, and should be boosted by everybody.

After a battle of adjectives that had all the combatants hunting the dictionary, a bowling match between the Lehigh Cement office team and the Carnegie Steel office team has been arranged, and customers what a match. Part of it will be ten pins and part of it will be duck pins. It seems that the Lehigh men can't hold the big balls, and the steel mill men don't like the small ones, and neither side would agree to the other fellow's game. The result was a toss up with both sides getting part of their game in.

The idea is that first they will toss duck pins and then toss ten pins, and by that time somebody will start tossing bottles. Not a bad idea at that. Why not match the Lehigh team with a rifle club, and in the first game let the cement men knock down clay pigeons with duck pin balls and in the second game have the mill club men shoot down ten pins with bullets.

Schofield Promises No More Hotel Raids

Philadelphia Director Is Made To Back Down By Hotel Men's Association

(International News Service) PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 21.—There will be no further liquor raids on hotels here, Director of Public Safety L. B. Schofield assured members of the Hotelmen's association at a conference called as an aftermath of the raid on the Benjamin Franklin hotel here last Sunday when 24 men and women were seized and lugged off to jail.

Appeared by their conference with the safety director, the Hotel association dropped its demands for Schofield's dismissal, when he agreed to first inform the management of any hotel where his men found liquor being used. Then if the manager of the hostelry failed to remedy the situation the raiding bluecoats would make their entry. Schofield, however, reserved the right to determine whether or not an honest effort is being made to enforce the dry laws at the local hotels.

The agreement was reached at a meeting in the mayor's office between various officials of the Hotel Men's association, the director, the mayor and other interested parties. The conference left the meeting pledging their best efforts towards enforcing the prohibition act.

Heavyweights To Battle Here

Mahoney And Weiss To Be Principals In Local Bouts Monday

KEEN RIVALRY BETWEEN PAIR

By ED FRITZ

Heavyweights and 175-pounders are the craze of fight fans and while eyes are centered on Miami where Jack Sharkey, the talkative Bostonian, and Phil Scott, the much defeated son of Great Britain, are to fight in the near future, other optics have been turned toward Jimmy Slattery and Maxie Rosenbloom as it appears that they will soon fight for the light-heavyweight title. Locally enthusiasts of punch and science are eagerly awaiting Monday as Jimmy Mahoney and Sam Weiss, 175-pounders, are to mix gloves at Jolly bowl in a 10-round tilt.

Mahoney is a smart, easy fighter. He is said to know his boxing gloves. Weiss is a rugged miller who has achieved some victories over good boys. Ray Alvis, manager of Young Jack Thompson, Tony Herrera and who was Jack Dempsey's matchmaker, pilots Mahoney while Al Lippe, boss of Al Friedman and a score of other good boys, manages Weiss. Ever since the Herrera-Ferro fight there has been a keen rivalry between the managers and their fighters.

Alvis telephoned the writer yesterday and in discussing the coming fight the Chicagoan said: "Just tell those New Castle fight fans that they'll like Mahoney. He knows his stuff and you know I wouldn't bring a 'bum' fighter there." Later in the day while conversing with Lippe at Philadelphia, we told Al what Alvis had telephoned and he replied: "He is right but at the same time tell them the same thing about this Dutch miller, Mr. Weiss."

Mahoney gave Ike McFowles 40 pounds and beat him. He holds a decision over Slattery and Alvis maintains emphatically that he should have had the "duke" over Lou Scozza. Ask Till also lost to Mahoney. He has fought 'em all and is in demand. Weiss has beaten Billy Jones, Babe McGoragary, Terry O'Hugh, Peg Sullivan and is regarded as one of the "best looking" 175-pounders in the east.

They will arrive here Sunday and take a short and light workout at Dime's gym. The other battlers will not arrive until Monday but fans are licking their chops, awaiting the Jackie Ward-Bud Dempsey clash. Local interest has also been excited owing to Frankie Frey meeting Jimmy Miller of Cleveland and Frankie Land's bout with Danny Burns.

MORETTI WINS FROM SOLOMON

New Castle Pugilist Is Out-fought And Sent To Canvas Twice

Mickey Solomon, New Castle middleweight lost last night in ten rounds to Gene Moretti of Atlantic City. He was floored twice in the ninth round. Moretti, a newcomer to the Pittsburgh district showed plenty of ring generalship and outboxed Solomon and according to wire reports Mick was in bad shape when the bell ended the ninth chapter.

Solomon captured the second and sixth rounds and he lost because he could not furnish a defense for Moretti's blows to the body at close range and short rights were Solomon down.

With the census takers at work, it ought not be hard now to get acquainted with people who count.—The Charleston, S. C. Evening Post.

New Castle Plays At Ellwood City Tonight

Should Locals Trim Tubers, Sectional Title Will Be In Bag

Local High Girls Play Ellwood City Girls In Preliminary

By CHARLES LANDOLF
Tonight will tell the tale whether or not the local undefeated high school Red and Black passers must defeat Butler on next Tuesday night to win the title of section three. For tonight at Ellwood City, the New Castle team will play the high school team of that city. In a preliminary game the Ellwood City lassies, the boys game starts at 8:15.

Should New Castle defeat Ellwood City this evening it will be victory number 14 and the third sectional title in four years. The game Tuesday night with Butler matters only in the number of straight victories, if the locals turn win at Ellwood, Coach Bridenbaugh ended drills for this game on Thursday afternoon and pronounced his cagers in the pink of condition for the battle with the tubers. Russell Hannon is ready to play as his sprained ankle which he received in the Evans City game is better.

Ellwood City also finished training on Thursday and feels confident that they will be the first team to trounce the locals this year on the hardwood. They may do it. One of the best games seen at Ellwood City this season is expected to be enacted this evening. Due to the distance between New Castle and Ellwood City a large delegation from New Castle will probably be among the spectators.

The locals are leaving at 6:30 for Ellwood. The following are making the party manager Ralph H. Gardner, Head Coach Phil Howard Bridenbaugh, Assistant Coaches, William Klee and Gig Thomas, Student Manager William Long, Assistant Manager Jackie Ward, and the following players: Wainio, Hannon, Rowe, Uram, McAuley, Alexander, Lasky, Shaffer, Winter, McKissick, J. Uram.

The probable lineup: Ellwood City. Wainio, Rowe, McKim, Alexander, Cloak, N. Uram, McAuley, Dudick, McKissick, Stask.

At half time the score stood at a tie, 8 to 8. Shortly after the third quarter was resumed the Leatherettes, led by J. Slesnick and Cherney, made an attack on the high school seniors and the latter failed to stave off their clever offensive.

The summary: Senior A's 14. Dugan, F., Aiken, J. Slesnick, Miles, Cochran, Slesnick, G., Garvin, Field goals—J. Slesnick 6, Cherney 5, Dugan, Miles, Aiken 2, Cochran 2. Foul goals—Leatherettes 4 out of 7. Senior A's 4 out of 7. Referee—Herbold. Scorer, Nollie, Turner, Mitchell.

SCHEDULE SIX BOYS' LEAGUE GAMES AT "Y"

So far to date there's been plenty of action in the Y. M. C. A. boys' league, but it is doubtless whether the games already run off will surpass the six promising tilts booked by Physical Director Henry T. MacNicholas for Saturday.

Games on tap for tomorrow follow: Laurels vs. Imperials. Red Birds vs. Castles. George Washington Jr. Hi-Y vs. Smoothies. Eagles vs. Fireflies. F. R. Newsboys vs. Ben Franklin Jr. Hi-Y. B. V. D. vs. Dimples.

New Wilmington Hi To Play Bessemer High This Evening

Bessemer High Seeks Revenge For Drubbing Received At Bessemer Early In Season

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Feb. 21.—New Wilmington high school basketball team entertains Bessemer high at the New Wilmington high gym this evening.

The Bessemer team is coming to New Wilmington fired with the ambition of taking the measure of the Carsten coached crew. Earlier in the season the locals went to Bessemer and handed the boys a one-point defeat 31 to 30, and this has been ranked Bessemer ever since. Things will be different tonight they openly assert.

The New Wilmington team is slowly rounding into form, and that 19 to 9 beating handed Shenango high last week proves the point very nicely. Shenango had previously beaten New Wilmington 33 to 22.

Quite a large crowd of Bessemer fans will accompany the Bessemer high team here tonight. It looks like a real hot game, and the locals are rarin' to show the neighboring folks that the first defeat was no fluke.

Waynesburg Tops Grove City 33-27

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Feb. 21.—The Waynesburg Yellow Jackets pulled another big surprise in the District last night, by knocking the tar out of the Grove City College team 33 to 27, in a game here.

The Jackets led throughout the game. At the half the score favored the Wolfpack 20 to 13. The Grovers staged a rally in the closing minutes of the game, but were unable to overtake the Jackets, with Avery the big works caging seven baskets for the night.

The summary: Waynesburg 33. Avery, O'Connell, F., P., Montgomery, Smith, G., Hilderbrand, White, G., Stansky, Patsch, G., Ryan. Substitutions—McCann for Fegley, Burke for Montgomery, Rankin for Stavinsky, Replovic for Ryan. Field goals—Avery 7, O'Connell, Smith, White 2, Fegley 2, McCann, Burke, Hilderbrand, Stavinsky, Rankin, R. Replovic 2. Foul goals—Waynesburg 11 out of 17, Grove City 9 out of 16. Referee—Hannum.

Falcons To Play West Pittsburgh

The Polish Falcon basketball team tangles with the West Pittsburgh Billards tonight at the Falcon hall, at 8 o'clock. There is a preliminary game arranged between two junior teams.

The Falcons beat the Billards 39 to 19 in the first meeting of the year, and Manager Felix Zuchowski is confident that his boys can come through again.

Zuchowski said today that he would like to schedule some fast teams. For games call 2213-M or write to Felix Zuchowski 1214 Cascade street, New Castle, Pa.

Four Games Remain On Titans Schedule

Westminster Floor Team Has Four Games Left On 1929-30 Basketball Card

W. & J., Grove City, And Two With Dukes Remain For Clever Lawthermen

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Feb. 21.—Four games remain on the schedule for Coach John Lawther's Westminster College basketball team. With a record of 11 victories and one defeat in district games, the Titans will find their fast pace hard to maintain until the season closes March 4 at Duquesne.

On Saturday night, Fats Henry's Washington and Jefferson college team will journey to New Wilmington for a return game with the Lawthermen. The Titans were able to defeat the Presidents at Washington last Saturday by a 28-18 score, but only after the hardest kind of playing.

Dukes-Groves Next Week
Next week will be the hardest faced by Lawther's crew all season. In the first place, Coach "Chick" Davies' wonder team from Duquesne University must be met on the home floor Tuesday night. As if this would not tax the strength of any team, Bob Thorn's improved Grove City passers will be entertained on the local floor on Friday night, Feb. 28. A victory over either of these strong teams will place the Titans high in district ranking.

The last game of the season will also be another stiff assignment. Duquesne will be met on the Duke floor, Pittsburgh, on Tuesday, March 4. While the Titans are riding at the crest right now, these last four games on the schedule will decide what place the Lawthermen will hold both in the Tri-State conference and in the district. If all four games are won, there will be no question as to both the conference and the district championships. But victory will be hard to get on each of the four occasions.

"Strange that medicine didn't help you. Did you follow the directions?"
"Yes—they said to keep the bottle tightly corked."

To the MEN and WOMEN WHO LIKE CLEAN SPORTS

Jolly bowl, State and Sampson streets, this city, owned and supervised by New Castle men, has been operating since June, 1928. All bouts are under the jurisdiction of the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission, appointed by the governor.

Since the bowl opened approximately 90 shows have been held. Approximately 90,000 spectators have attended the events. Contests are between boxers of recognized ability and no uneven contests are staged.

Here are a few more facts, Jolly bowl takes pride in making public:

The bowl has its own police and fire forces—recruited from members of the two city departments.

There have been no arrests, no disorder and no accidents have occurred.

There is nothing done or said at Jolly bowl which would offend the most fastidious.

The bowl welcomes women patronage.

Monday night Jimmy Mahoney, Chicago, opposes Sam Weiss, Philadelphia, in the main bout of 10 rounds.

They are 175 pound boxers who are ascending the ladder of success.

The first of four bouts will begin at 8:30 p. m. Tickets $2, $1.50 and $1 are now on sale at Leslie hotel, Sport Goods and the bowl.

I thank you—

BILL JOLLY, Promoter.

NEW YORK STOCKS

Some Recoveries Made In Early Stock Trading

(International News Service) NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—The best recoveries in the early trading today were made by the blue-chip utility stocks and industrials which fell heaviest in Thursday's closing reaction. The mercantile stocks, including Montgomery Ward, Woolworth and Sears Roebuck made good progress in the upward direction, and the amusement stocks won back a part of the ground lost in that downward move.

Powerful buying demand for Brooklyn Gas and Consolidated, at 2 1/2 and 5 points above yesterday's close, is believed in Wall Street to foreshadow the merger of these companies.

Market Is Strong
A strong market developed in the second hour for Radio, Davidson Chemical and other powerfully sponsored stocks which have been hampered persistently by the bears in the last few days. Davidson Chemical jumped 3 points to 40; Radio again topped 46 for a gain of nearly 3 points. Commercial Solvents rose a point to 31 1/2. Sears Roebuck, Woolworth and Warner Brothers sold up a point on the average. Westinghouse rallied 3 points to 17 1/2; U. S. Steel about 2 points to 18 1/2; and Erie, at the head of the speculative rally, rose 3 points to 61 1/2.

The professionals churned the active stocks within a narrow price range near the noon period. A good deal of the ground gained by the speculative leaders near the opening of the market was lost as the bears renewed their attacks, heavy selling from the "big professionals" at the Florida shore resorts was reported in the brokerage offices, where the prospect of a sharp rally in prices appeared none too right.

Grain and cotton made a better showing this morning, but rallies were feeble as compared with the recent sharp declines. Call money was unchanged at 4 1/2 per cent.

Memorial Park To Honor Memory Of World War Vets

Trees Will Be Planted In Park In Memory Of Those Who Made Supreme Sacrifice

Mrs. H. M. Kirk, general chairman of the committee in charge of the benefit bridge and fashion revue, which will be held Tuesday evening, February 25, in the New Castle Dry Goods company building, states that the event is planned as a means of raising funds for the creation of a Memorial Park to those veterans of the world war, who made the supreme sacrifice.

When the project was first conceived several years ago, it was suggested that 38 memorial trees be planted about the hospital grounds, as a means of not only beautifying the

Aids Brain to Replace Sight

The story of a twenty-one year struggle against the handicap of blindness and an effort to continue the practice of law through the assistance of his wife was related by Senator Thomas D. Schall, of Minnesota. He said the first thing every man who loses his sight thinks of is to quit, and added that the love and tender understanding of his wife enabled him to conquer his difficulty. Picture shows favorite pose of Senator Schall with inset of his "helmet" Mrs. Schall.

YOUTH DIE IN BLAZE

BODIES OF FOUR FOUND IN EDENBURG RUINS THIS MORNING

ROGERS SAYS IT'S JUST TOO BAD FOR THAT NAVY PARLEY

(Special To The News)
BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Feb.
22.—Poor old disarmament conference! Even if it does make an agreement with each other, why before they can telegraph the news back to their countries, why the men that made the agreement may be thrown out of office.

Every one of those delegations have to read the papers every morning to find if they are still working. France just called for another preacher right in the middle of the sermon. There is not even a two weeks clause in any political contract over there. Any time you pull a bad note, you are out on your ear, and they throw your hat after you. On account of us being a democracy and run by the people, we are the only nation that has to keep a government four years.

Yours,
WILL.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Mrs. D. R. Smith of 304 Leasure avenue called into The News to report she saw a nice big red robin in her back yard this morning, chirping and singing for dear life as to announce that spring was here! With many more of these good signs, we will be parading down Washington street in our "summer-bests" regardless of the fact that it is month of February.

Opening of an employment bureau by the American Legion for ex-service men is a constructive move. People who have work of any kind can assist in the movement by getting in touch with this bureau. There are a great number of ex-service men in New Castle who are not employed, men whose entire career was changed by the war. They still need your help.

Pa New observed that a great many of the merchants had their flags out early this morning. Seems easier to remember Washington's birthday than Lincoln's, for some reason or other.

After having fallen steadily for the last week, the Shenango River started rising this morning, having gone up a half foot since yesterday. This is probably due to the melting of the ice in the Pymatung swamp area.

Although yesterday seemed warmer than it had the two days previous, the maximum temperature was 67, the same as on Thursday. According to government weather forecasts, the warm spell is due to continue for a few more days.

Movement started by the South Siders to have the road to West Pittsburgh improved, seems to Pa New like a very desirable project. This road is one that is much used, and it should be included in the improvement scheme of the county as soon as possible.

One month from Friday is the first day of spring, according to our calendar.

Complaint was made to Pa New Friday night by an irate resident of Reis street, concerning the fact that members of the police department killed a dog complained of early that day, cut off its ears and left the body lying in the gutter in front of the Hilborn property, where it was still lying late last night. Seems as if

Woman Is Found Victim Of Murder; Body Cut In Two

Mrs. Gervis Castner, 31, of Avoca, Small Mining Village Is Victim Of Fiend

BODY FOUND IN BURLAP SACKS
Husband Of Woman Held By Police, Remains Silent; Body Completely Severed

(International News Service)
SCRANTON, Pa., Feb. 22.—A confession to the brutal murder of his wife and dismemberment of body in an effort to hide traces of the crime was blurted out to state police this afternoon by Gervis Castner, 32-year-old miner, according to officers at the Wyoming barracks here, where Castner is being held.

SCRANTON, Pa., Feb. 22.—That Mrs. Gervis Castner, 31, of Avoca, a little mining village near here, may have been alive when some fiend saved her body in two and buried the parts in burlap sacks, was the startling disclosure made by Dr. H. Guyler, deputy coroner of Luzerne county today.

Dr. Guyler stated that because of certain conditions existing in the mangled remains there is the possibility that the woman was tortured. He will conduct his investigation and autopsy along those lines to verify the gruesome possibility, he said.

Husband In Custody
Meanwhile Gervis Castner, the husband, is in the custody of the state police at the Wyoming barracks. Dazed and stupefied, he has refused to answer questions about the discovery of his wife's body in the cellar of their home.

Unkempt, ragged, with his hair, evidently uncut for months, hanging over his eyes, he has maintained his silence ever since he was placed under arrest late yesterday when the body was found.

Castner, struck by a railroad train about a year ago, has been "queer" since that time, according to police. The little shack which was the home of the slain woman presents an

Take Steps To Block Probe Of Poison Alcohol

Treasury Department Rejects All Proposals To Cease Poisoning Alcohol

SIROVICH BILL TO BE ABANDONED

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—With the treasury rejecting all proposals to abandon the use of poison to denature industrial alcohol, administration leaders of the house today were taking steps to block a proposed investigation of the poison alcohol situation by the ways and means committee.

Plans for consideration of the bill of Rep. Sirovich (D) of New York to substitute evil but non-poisonous denaturants will be abandoned, it was indicated by Rep. Hawley (R) of Oregon, chairman of the ways and means committee.

With both Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and Prohibition Commissioner Doran taking a determined stand in favor of the continued use of wood alcohol, house administration leaders declared consideration of the measure would be useless.

After winning a promise for hearings on his measure, Sirovich announced he was preparing to bring leading scientists to Washington to testify that the prohibition regime is unnecessarily endangering lives by insisting upon poisonous denaturants.

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Feb. 22.—Service of detainers on the wardens of the Erie county jail for the arrest of James Patrone, alias Joseph Warner, alias Lester Beals, alias Lambert, alias Fred Black, was presaged today in connection with the complaint filed by C. L. Keep charging Samuel Y. Rossiter, prominent Erie attorney, with conspiracy in the substitution of a prisoner sentenced to a jail term for rum smuggling.

Keep, a special agent in charge of the Bureau of Investigation, Department of Justice, alleges in the complaint that Patrone, now serving a 60-

Aristide Briand May Head French Delegation At London Conference Is Report

BRIAND PROVES SHREWD STATESMAN

Naval Reduction Almost Certain To Follow If Briand Is Put In Charge

By HARRY R. FLORY
International News Service Staff Correspondent
LONDON, Feb. 22.—The news that Aristide Briand would return to the London naval conference as head of the French delegation if M. Chaumet's cabinet is accepted by the Chamber of Deputies struck an optimistic note in conference circles today.

Many delegates viewed the return of the great statesman in a leading rather than secondary role, as a loop hole through which the parley might be reverted to its original purpose—reduction.

M. Briand had demanded naval tonnage of approximately 725,000 tons by 1936 and thereby caused all to realize that the most to be hoped for from the conference negotiations was limitation which would lay the basis for actual reduction in the future.

May Accomplish Purpose.
With M. Briand at the parley representing a left wing group avert for naval reduction, however, hope was felt that the conference would accomplish the original purpose of President Hoover and Premier MacDonald after all.

No one looks for M. Briand to make concessions without getting them in return. He is too brilliant a negotiator for anything like that to happen. However, many feel he may acquiesce to cutting the French demands if Britain and American lower theirs and thereby permit a lesser French tonnage figure to still represent adequate protection for the French colonial empire in the eyes of French citizens.

Six Killed In Tenement Fire

Six Persons Burned To Death, Seven Injured, 100 Barely Escape In Fire

FIRE RAZES OLD OAKLAND HOTEL

(International News Service)
OAKLAND, Cal., Feb. 22.—At least six persons were burned to death here early today, seven others were injured and more than 100 barely escaped with their lives when fire destroyed a crowded tenement building, hotel landmark of pioneer days.

Five hours after the fire broke out, firemen succeeded in battling their way into the fiery embers and removed six bodies, so terribly burned that efforts to identify them failed. Scenes of the wildest panic were enacted as the lodgers, trapped in their sleep, fought toward the entrance and then plunged into a driving rainstorm whipped by a 40-mile gale. Many leaped from the third and fourth floors, while others slid to safety on bedsheets swiftly tied together.

Two Small Girls Die Of Poisoning In Detroit Home

Grandfather Kills Two Small Grand Children With Poison—Third May Die

TRIES SUICIDE FOLLOWING CRIME

Parents Wanted To Take Children Away, Attached Grandfather Brooded

(International News Service)
DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 22.—Rather than part with his three young grandchildren, Jesse Waite, 57, bought the youngsters bright new dresses, filled them on ice cream and then fed them rat poison, according to police, with the result that two small girls are dead and another was believed dying in receiving hospital today.

Waite, with whom the children lived, also swallowed some of the poison and may die.

Two Dead
The dead children are: Alma Vernal, 3; Ruth, her sister, 5. The third sister, Betty, 8, probably will die, hospital attendants said today.

The children's stepfather, Manuel Vernal, and their 24-year-old mother, Julia, were in another room of the home when the poison was administered.

Vernal had announced his intention of moving the family to another house. The grandfather was to be left behind. Waite protested that he could not bear parting with his grandchildren.

Yesterday afternoon he took the three youngsters to a neighborhood store and decked them out in gaudy new dresses. They next visited a confectionery and all had their fill of ice cream sodas. When the grandfather returned home, his three tiny charges were laden with bags of candy.

Waite then asked his daughter if the children could sleep in his bed, the mother said.

Mrs. Vernal consented and sometime between 8 and 10 p. m. the grandfather persuaded the children to eat the deadly poison. Mrs. Vernal later found all four writhing in agony. Two of the children died in the hospital.

Only Torsos Remain
The arms, legs, and heads were burned off, and only the charred and blackened torsos remained. In the meantime the Pennsylvania company had sent an ambulance to the scene of the fire. When the men with stretchers arrived a bridge of planks was thrown in to the bodies. Workmen placed shovels under them and they were put on stretchers and placed in the ambulance.

W. H. Rodgers of the Pennsylvania police force arrived about the same time as the coroner and at the latter's suggestion Rodgers went to Hillsville to locate James Zarello, whose license card had been found in the sedan. Sheriff Frank Johnston arrived soon after Rodgers had departed, and also went to Hillsville.

Brothers Missing
Rodgers had considerable trouble in finding out whether or not the Zarello boys had been at home last night, several stories being given him, before the truth was learned. He finally located Felix Zarello, a son of James Zarello. Felix said that his brothers were not at home. Felix was brought to the scene of the disaster.

When questioned by Coroner Caldwell, he said that he had been out with his two brothers, Dominick and Louis, and Samuel and Nick Retort last night. The Zarello boys had left in the Dodge car early Friday evening and had gone to Edensburg where they had picked up the Retort boys. They had then driven to Youngstown where they attended a party or dance. Felix was unable to tell at whose house the dance had been held, or on what street.

Last Heard Of Them
He said that they had started back to Hillsville sometime after midnight. It was about 1 o'clock this morning when they arrived at Hillsville. Felix had got out of the car and gone home. Dominick and Louis went on to take the Retort boys home. That was the last that he had seen of them. He found that his brothers were not at home this morning, but had made no investigation before Policeman Rodgers arrived.

BELIEVE THAT EDENBURG AND HILLSVILLE BROTHERS ARE EXPLOSION VICTIMS

Zarello And Retort Brothers Are Missing After Return From Youngstown—Zarello Auto Near Scene—Bodies Are Burned Beyond Recognition—Explosion Heard All Over Edensburg—Old Station Used For Gasoline Storage And For Housing Of Railroad Equipment

Four young men lost their lives in a terrific gasoline explosion which wrecked the old Pennsylvania railroad station at Edensburg, about 2 o'clock this morning.

Following the explosion, which shook the entire town, the station burst into flames and was burned to the ground. The charred bodies of the young men were not found until after the blaze was practically out, when the gruesome discovery was made by railroad men who had been sent to repair fallen telegraph wires.

Considerable difficulty was experienced in securing any identification of the bodies, but according to investigation made by Coroner J. P. Caldwell, the dead men are believed to be Dominick Zarello, aged 18, of Hillsville; Louis Zarello, aged 21, of Hillsville; Samuel Retort, aged 21, of Edensburg; Nick Retort, aged 19, of Edensburg.

The Zarello boys are brothers, being sons of Mr. and Mrs. James Zarello of Hillsville. The Retort boys are also brothers and are the sons of Mrs. Rosie Retort of Edensburg. They have a step-father, Louis Retort.

Bodies of all four were so badly burned that it was impossible to identify them by sight. The only way that the identification could be made was by checking up on who was missing. A clue was given by a Dodge sedan, which was found parked about one hundred yards from the station. In the car there was found a driver's license card bearing the name of James Zarello.

Station Is Ruined
Coroner J. P. Caldwell received a call from Pennsylvania railroad officials at 6:30 this morning. He was informed that the Pennsylvania station at Edensburg had been burned, and that it was believed that several persons had lost their lives in the fire. Coroner Caldwell left at once for Edensburg and upon arriving there found the smoldering ruins of the station, surrounded by a big crowd of men, women and children. Railroad employees were throwing water on the red hot embers. Near the west end of the ruins were the wrecks of two small hand cars, and alongside there were some black objects, which were believed to be human bodies. After considerable water had been carried and thrown over the burning coals it was possible to reach in with poles and two bodies were uncovered. Soon after a third and a fourth were uncovered.

Only Torsos Remain
The arms, legs, and heads were burned off, and only the charred and blackened torsos remained. In the meantime the Pennsylvania company had sent an ambulance to the scene of the fire. Hunt Deranged Fire-Bug Fiend At Pittsburgh

Alleged Fire-Bug Sets Fire To Airport Building, Then Shoots At Fleeing Men

THREE OF AIRPORT WORKMEN INJURED

Intensive Search Being Made For Fiend Who Would Have Killed Men Like Rats

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Feb. 22.—City and county authorities augmented by a force of private citizens joined today in an intensive search of the countryside surrounding the Allegheny county airport for an apparently deranged man who set fire to a dwelling occupied by airport employees and then loosed a withering volley of rifle fire at the workers when they attempted to extinguish the blaze.

Three of the workmen were injured. All were treated by a physician and are expected to recover. The peculiar attack occurred here last night. Forty men, employed in construction work on the airport, were lodged in a dwelling on a farm near the airport and had gone to bed when they were aroused by smoke and the crackling of flames.

Leaping from their beds, the men rushed to windows and doors in scanty attire. Once outside they attempted to beat out the flames with their bare hands.

Structure Razed
Suddenly, amidst the crackling of flames and the cries of the workmen, an intermittent burst of rifle fire sent the fire fighters scurrying to safety from the new menace.

Thomas Johnson, 35; Spase Lazaro, 36, and Pete Mitro, 32, crumpled to the ground as the leaden slugs splattered about the dwelling. By this time transformed into a blazing holocaust.

The entire eight-room structure was razed. Loss was estimated at nearly $13,000. Fire calls were flashed to Dravosburg and Mifflin township and companies from each place responded. Two late to save the dwelling, hasty first aid was rendered to the wounded men and a police hunt was organized for the incendiary maniac who had fled the scene.

Thoroughly aroused today when word of the fiendish attack spread throughout the countryside, armed residents joined with police in search for the mysterious gunman.

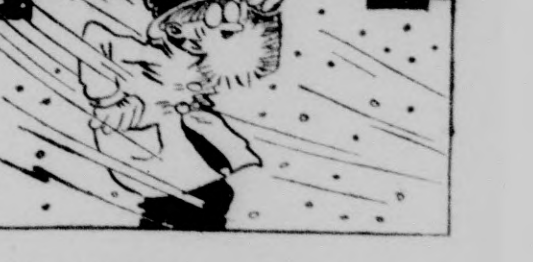

Probe Crash Of Chicago Plane; Two Are Killed

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Feb. 22.—Six veteran fliers today were to hold an inquest into the death of Capt. Joseph Donnellan, war-time pilot, and Richard King, student pilot, who were killed instantly in a 300 foot airplane crash late yesterday when their biplane stalled and dove to the ground.

The plane burst into flames immediately after the crash, preventing attendants at the Chicago Aero club flying field from coming to the assistance of the trapped victims.

Donnellan had flown since 1914, and last year started a flight from Chicago to South America which ended in Cuba due to adverse weather conditions.

Let the timbrels sound and the tom-toms beat, bring on the fife and the flute, let the cannon roar and the snare drum snare, let somebody twang on the lute, if twang you do when a lute you play, or maybe I mean a tympani, but at any rate let the music start in a garner's pastoral symphony. Bring on the shovel, the rake and hoe and the seeds for the spuds and hay, for weather like this is most planting kind, it's just fifty-nine today.

Without Definite Knowledge Regarding Fate Of Six Rabbis

Believe Soviets Will Not Put Them To Death, But May Imprison Or Exile Them

(International News Service)
BERLIN, Feb. 22.—Reports reaching here today still lacked exact information as to the probable fate of six prominent rabbis reported to be held for trial on March 5, at Minsk, Russia, on charges of being connected with Jewish organizations fostering religious schools. According to the reports here, Chief Rabbi Glessner, a prominent figure in Jewish circles in Russia, and five other rabbis, are charged with having communicated with foreign organizations with a view to getting funds for the establishment of schools of the type barred by the Soviet anti-religious policy.

Although the usual penalty for such charges is said to be death, it is generally believed the Soviet officials would only demand imprisonment or exile as punishment.

The visitation committee will complete its work this coming week, going to Sharon on Monday and to Beaver Falls on Thursday.

though this citizen had a kick at that.

H. E. Shell of West Washington street extension reports to The News today that his children found a real live green snake about two feet long Friday, while they were looking for flowers at the end of their yard. The snake crawled out from among some weeds. The children captured the snake and brought it to the house. Next on the spring signs.

Washington's birthday is being quite generally celebrated in this city today. Numerous public institutions are closed in observance of the holiday.

Two more signs of spring were observed this morning. One was the first grass fire of the spring season, and the other was a group of school boys fishing for suckers in the Ne-shannock. The fishermen were unsuccessful and it is probable that the suckers have not started to run yet.

WOMAN IS FOUND VICTIM OF MURDER; BODY CUT IN TWO

almost unbelievable picture of squalor. The woman had been missing for a week prior to the discovery of her body and the house was in terrible shape, police report.

Three little children ranging in age from a few months to three years lay whimpering in a rude crib.

Discovered By Niece

Mrs. Sadie McHugh, a niece of Mrs. Castner, discovered the murder when she went to the house yesterday to try to aid the children, motherless for a week.

A large, blood-stained saw, found near the two burial sacks in which the woman's torso and legs had been hastily wrapped, bore mute evidence that it was used in dismembering the body.

From the condition of the blood clots on the saw and in the mangled remains, Dr. Guyler hopes to be able, through medical science to determine when the woman was killed, whether she was beaten to death and her body then hacked or if the dismemberment took place before life was extinct.

Castner was a mine worker, employed at the Butler collieries. It is feared that he was semi-demented since being struck by the train a year ago. He had been intoxicated for almost the entire week preceding his arrest, police say.

This city still was taxi-less today, cab company officials electing to comply, for the time being at least, with the drastic order of Mayor Charles H. Kline in banning operation of cabs on city streets.

CHARGE ERIE PRISONER SERVING FOR ANOTHER

pire and warrants are to be served on Rossiter, Donovan and Wells.

U. S. deputy marshals, who are to serve the warrants, anticipate no trouble in serving Rossiter and Donovan but the service of Wells, alleged wealthy liquor smuggler living in Canada, may present difficulties.

Whereabouts Unknown
His whereabouts are unknown here and considerable legal controversy may be expected in connection with extradition proceedings if Wells is arrested in Canada.

The formal complaint against the men sets forth that the conspiracy was formed when Rossiter and the other men agreed to conceal Wells and to commit contempt on the United States court here by Patrone impersonating and representing himself as the person arrested while smuggling.

Several days after Patrone had been sentenced with Wells to the Erie jail, the discovery was accidentally made by a United States prohibition investigator that Wells was enjoying his freedom in a Canadian city.

During Past Year

According to the annual report issued by Clarence Patterson, treasurer of the New Castle free public library, $761.48 was taken in from fines by the library during the year 1929.

A book is allowed to be kept for two weeks free of charge. Each day a book is kept after two weeks a fine of two cents is asked. It is surprising how many borrowers cannot remember to return their books in time to avoid paying the fine.

For lost books the library was paid $93.42, the treasurer's report states.

Hoover Establishes Covered Wagon Days

Covered Wagon Days

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—By executive proclamation President Hoover today set aside the period from April 10 to December 29 of this year in commemoration of the 100th anniversary of the covered wagon days.

It was on April 10, 1830, that a first wagon train left St. Louis for Oregon, pioneering the way for the thousands of men and women who settled the Pacific states.

It was on December 29, 1830, that Ezra Meeker, famed frontiersman, was born. Meeker lived until recently.

Mr. Hoover called upon the people "to employ this fitting occasion to commemorate the lives and deeds of the heroic pioneers who won and held the West."

STAR LORE THE PROPOSED "MODEL CALENDAR"

By Arthur De V. Carpenter.

The promoters of the "model calendar" propose having 13 months in the year; all months to have the same number of days—28. Had this calendar gone into effect Jan. 1, 1928, that year would have opened on Sunday. The extra day of leap year is recommended to come at the end of June, be nameless and a holiday. The 365th, or last day of the year, coming at the end of the 13th month, is to be a day without name, also a holiday. This arrangement would make every month uniform. Every month would begin on Sunday and end Saturday. The 13th month would require a name.

BELIEVE BROTHERS EXPLOSION VICTIMS

brothers were missing. A few shreds of clothing was found under the bodies, also a small vanity case, several belt buckles and a revolver. The revolver was a .22 calibre. The handles were burned off. There were two shells in the gun, but the heat had exploded them, so that the shells were empty. There was also part of a third shell the top of it being burned off. It is not yet known to whom the revolver belonged.

Awakened By Explosion
According to the story told by J. W. Leeper of Edensburg, it was shortly after 2 o'clock this morning when he was awakened by a terrific explosion. Looking out he saw the station on fire. Dressing hastily he ran to the station, and observing that some of the telegraph wires were down, he ran down the east bound track and flagged a freight train which was approaching.

I. M. Hoffmeister, Pennsylvania foreman, arrived soon after. By this time the station was a mass of flames and the fire was melting a string of telegraph wires. He ran to a telephone used by the company but the wires had been burned off. He finally got a communication through the Pennsylvania offices at the junction through a private telephone.

Running back to the burning station he found that lock had been broken off one of the doors. He also found three or four gasoline cans, which he says did not belong to the station.

Storage Place For Gas
The station was formerly used for passengers, but lately it has been used simply as a place to store gasoline, hand cars and machinery. There were several barrels of gasoline stored in the station.

It was near where these gasoline containers were kept that the bodies of the four young men were found. It is believed that they must have struck a match or had lighted a cigarette, which set gasoline fumes on fire and caused the explosion.

All Four Together
One peculiarity in the finding of the bodies was that they were practically together. There was one body lying over another in one place and about two feet away another body lying over another. This would seem to indicate that the men fell where they were standing when the explosion occurred and that they were rendered unconscious by the shock.

One of the complications that will probably arise out of the situation is the identification of the young men. With the bodies burned to a crisp it is going to be hard to tell which are the Retort boys and which are the Zarelio boys. Friends are expected here this afternoon to try to determine the question.

When the bodies were uncovered it had been reported that some of them were girls, but subsequent developments failed to lend credence to the theory. It is known that there are four boys missing and no girls have been reported missing. Felix Zarelio says that no girls were with them on the trip to Youngstown. Coroner Caldwell is of the opinion that the bodies are those of the Zarelio and Retort boys and unless there should be some new developments, certificates of death will be given for them.

State Police Constable Shucklick also hurried to the scene of the fire and explosion immediately upon receiving word and conducted an examination which clears up the discovery of a vanity case or compact found in the destroyed building.

The five boys had been to Youngstown last night and were with several girls, Constable Shucklick says. He would furnish the supposition that one of the boys had possession of one of the girls' compacts. The state police-men found the lock which had been broken off the station door.

They found four cans, three of which were five-gallon containers and the fourth was a two-gallon container. A keg filled with nails had been moved from its place so that the gasoline drums could be placed on it, presumably for the purpose of draining the "gas" into the cans.

State police said the damage, in their estimation, would total $3,500 covered by Pennsylvania railroad system insurance.

William J. Edwards of Hillsville, constable in Mahoning township, late this afternoon stated that an investigation which had led him from Hillsville to 241 Sheezy street, Youngstown left no doubt of the fact that Louis Retort, aged 19, and Nick Retort, aged 21, were two of the young men burned to death at the gasoline storage place in Edensburg, formerly the Pennsylvania Railroad station. They reside in Edensburg.

THE TOWN DOCTOR

"DOCTOR OF TOWNS" SAYS

CRITICISM THE MOTHER OF PROGRESS
In this day and age, Progress is out of the question without Criticism. But there are two kinds of criticism—one good and one bad.

Constructive criticism is good, for it is caused by honest doubt. It seeks to study with care, and learn better ways. It builds, makes and changes for the better, and therefore is responsible for many blessings.

Destructive criticism is bad. It tears down, destroys. One of its forms is ridicule. There are three kinds of people who ever ridicule anything—the human ass, the out-and-out destructionist, and the man who, because he has never heard of it nor has ever done it, pool-poos the idea that there is such a thing or that it can be done.

Constructive criticism of New Castle is boosting, for a fault known and acknowledged is half cured. Ridicule of New Castle is knocking.

As hot-air is the greatest enemy of common sense, the satisfied-with-things-as-they-are attitude is one of the greatest enemies to community progress; for satisfied people never crave anything other than that which they have. They are those who say, "it is good enough for me"; and that offers scant opportunity for making anything better.

Dissatisfaction tends to the improvement of a thing, and causes thinking people to say, "it is good, but it can be made better." That is good—for thinking and saying a thing can be made better, lead to its being made better.

However, do not confuse dissatisfaction with discontent. Much less than is needed may satisfy; less than enough might content one. If we had been satisfied with 1900 model automobiles there would never have been any better ones; satisfied with the broom there never would have been a vacuum sweeper.

The man who is satisfied is want-less. He preaches the gospel of "let-well-enough-alone." He is one of those easy-going individuals lacking ambition. If you should take him to dine and ask his pleasure as to food he would reply, "oh, I am not particular."

It is not an old saying that "man should be content, but never satisfied"—content and thankful for that which he has, happy in having it, comfortably enjoying it; but always seeking, striving for better, that he may be more thankful, more happy and more comfortable.

An individual who is satisfied with his town is a liability to the community and every one in it. Show me a town where the majority of the people are satisfied, and I will show you a community that isn't standing the gaff of modern community competition. A man who wants to live in a satisfied community should go to China.

People must be dissatisfied if their community is to be kept alive, if new people and new industries are to be attracted.

That does not mean that every one should be a grumbler, a groucher, a hardhead, or chronic fault-finder; neither does it mean to pick the other fellow to pieces and forget to look in the mirror yourself.

It does mean to keep out of the rut, to avoid becoming so accustomed to New Castle that you fail to recognize the things that hold it back, or its advantages on which you could capitalize.

New Castle High Plays North Union High Thursday

Will Begin Elimination Series For Sectional Honors At Pitt Gym

New Castle high will play North Union high in the W. P. I. A. L. basketball elimination tournament at Pitt stadium, Pittsburgh, Thursday evening, according to telephonic advices from Ralph Gardner, who attended a W. P. I. A. L. sectional winners representatives meeting today at Pittsburgh.

New Castle won the championship of Section 3 and North Union, located near Uniontown, captured first place in Sectional 13.

Mr. Gardner said that a special train over the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie will be operated to convey local fans to and from the tourney.

Tickets for the game if purchased at the High school or Sport Goods store here they will cost 50 cents but if bought at the Pitt stadium, one dollar will be charged, he said.

Additional details will be announced upon the return of Gardner to New Castle, he stated today.

Seek Agreement On Fire Service

Owing to the large number of fire alarms answered by city fire apparatus in surrounding townships it is probable that city council may make another attempt whereby townships from whence calls are sent to the city will in some manner agree to take care of any damage that might result from the city's answer for aid. During the past year fire apparatus from New Castle visited several of the townships and today a city official pointed out that every time the city apparatus goes out it is apt to be damaged and in fighting fires or riding to blazes firemen are liable to injury.

Dinner-Dance At Cathedral On Friday Evening

Six Hundred In Attendance At Social Event—Many Program Features

With approximately 600 in attendance, the dinner-dance of the New Castle Consistory was held Friday evening in the dining room and ballroom of the Cathedral. Among the guests were many members from Greenville, Oil City, Sharon and the Beaver valley.

At 6:45 the dinner was served, with pep singing led by W. O. "Red" Williams. Following the dinner the toastmaster, D. O. Davies, took charge and presented a 45-minute program of entertainment that was appreciated.

With so many programs preceding the matter of a program becomes a more difficult task with each succeeding dinner insofar as new forms of entertainment are concerned. Mr. Davies solved the difficulty by presenting a high-grade musical program, with well-known local artists featured.

George Anthony and Harry Evans, former Mountain Ash artists, were heard in several duets and also in solo numbers. Mrs. Francis Cope presented two readings and her diminutive little daughter, Betty Jane, who recently finished first in a radio competition, recited "The Immortality of the Soul." She responded with an encore, "When Billy Crows".

At the close of the program the guests adjourned to the ballroom, where Park's Whippoorwill provided orchestra music for the dance.

February 22, 1930.

Mr. Editor of The News,

Dear Sir:—
In your issue of February 19, 1930, Mr. Arthur Wright asks for some information as to the word styme as he spells it which is an error as the correct spelling is "Stime".

If Mr. Wright will examine "Websters International Dictionary", 1898 Edition Page 1475, second column he will find the word Stime (Stim). (Etymology uncertain). A slight gleam or glimmer. (Prov. Eng.) This will answer his call for help and perhaps be news to others.

Yours respectfully,
W. W. STEVENSON.

Counterfeit Tens Are Passed Here

Counterfeit ten dollar bills were found in circulation here yesterday, according to information received by the Credit Exchange and local merchants were warned to be on the lookout for the bills.

They are a fairly good likeness of the real bills and apparently have been wrinkled up to look like old bills, making it harder to detect them.

YOUR INCOME TAX

No. 23
Taxpayers who make casual sales of personal property for a price exceeding $1,000, or sell real property, or the deferred-payment plan, may use the installment method when computing the tax on the profits derived from such sales if the initial payments made during the year do not exceed 40 per cent of the selling price. Persons who elect to use this method pay each year only the tax on the proportion of the installment payments received during the year which represents a profit, instead of paying the tax on the total profit to be realized. To illustrate, a taxpayer sells a piece of real estate in 1929 for $9,000 which cost him $6,000, and the purchaser agrees to pay $3,000 each year. In this case the tax on the profit of $3,000 could spread over the three years; that is, one-third of each installment payment of $3,000, or $1,000 would be taxable the year received.

Peter's Adventures

CHINAMAN CATERPILLAR EATS HIS OLD COAT

Actions followed words, in the case of Chinaman Caterpillar. No sooner said than done. Talking to a Chinaman went on with his story. "I have gotten tired of my old coats, folks!" announced he. "Can you blame me? You can see for yourselves it no longer fits me, it is too small and pinches! But why waste a coat that has done such good service and is ready to serve as a meal in the bargain? Crack! Hear that, folks? That's the first rip in a seam. There goes another. Listen and you will hear more. Watch and you'll see a sight you've never seen before. By the way, old clothes do not taste badly. I find them rather tempting. Crack! Another break. Ah, ah! I'm popping out. The coat is popping out. Don't be alarmed, folks. I am a modest fellow and I should not step out of one suit without having first put on another. I always see to it that my new suit is made to order and fits perfectly before I get rid of my old one! Modesty is a trait of the branch of the Moth Miller family I come from."

While Chinaman Caterpillar was talking he was undergoing a change, turning into a different fellow entirely than the one he had been. His green coat grew lighter. Suddenly it cracked open down the back. Out of it wriggled Mr. Chinaman Caterpillar in a new suit of brilliant green. Without wasting a moment, Chinaman set to and made a meal on his old clothes. When the last scrap had disappeared, Chinaman Caterpillar bowed.

"That's all!" remarked he. "I hope you have liked my act. It was the best I could do. If it was not very exciting, at least it was different!" Chinaman Caterpillar wriggled out of the ring and back to his place in the crowd, amid much applause. Peter could scarcely believe his own eyes. "What a strange sight!" remarked he to Biffer. But that young Gun Beetle carelessly nodded. "A good act, but an old one in the line of Chinaman Caterpillar!" said he. "What's that noise?"

Next: "Not Humming Bird, but Hum Bug."

Attend Funeral Of Late Relative

Mrs. John Simpson of East Long avenue and Frank, Harry, Clara and Raymond Kennedy of John street have returned from Rouseville, Vengano county, where they were called by the sudden death of their cousin, Mrs. Emily Murdock, formerly of Chicago, Ill.

The body of Mrs. Murdock was shipped to Chicago for burial. She had been making her home with her sister, Mrs. Jennie Duffy of Rouseville, and 81 years of age when she died.

MRS. FREEDMAN VINCENT

The house met at 12 o'clock noon and was called to order by the speaker. The chaplain, Rev. James Shera Montgomery, D. D. offered the following prayer:

O thou to whom we look for mercy and care, give to us that sensibility to love which time can not touch and which the world can not smother. We shall then be strong with guardianship in the thought of God. As we approach Thee we would that we were worthier. Be with us and fill us with perseverance to achieve good things in life, in courage, and in wisdom. With thankful hearts may we stand today in the free air of heaven and with our feet on God's free earth, and thank our Heavenly Father for the simple luxury of living. Always help us to appreciate that nothing of great worth can be accomplished with half a mind, a faint heart, or with a lame endeavor. Through Jesus Christ our Lord, Amen.

Traction Company Sued Over Injury

Sharon Girl Claims She Has Been Invalid Since July, 1928, When Accident Occurred

MERCER, Pa., Feb. 22.—In her suit to collect $10,000 from the Shenango Valley Traction company, Twila Marsteller took the stand late Thursday afternoon as the first witness in what promises to be the feature damage suit of the week.

The girl, who is 17 years of age has been an invalid since the time of the accident, July 25, 1928, she told the court and jury. She spent several hours on a couch in the attorneys room before taking the stand. Fits of vomiting since the injury keep her at home most of the time the jury was told.

She will be followed on the stand today by her mother, Jessie Marsteller, who is suing for $3,500 for medicines and doctors bills. The case is being prosecuted by Ben Jarrett and defended by Brockway and Whittall. The jury was taken to Sharon in a bus and shown the street car in which the accident happened.

TEST SHOWS RABBIES

Stock and dog owners in the localities of Clarks Mills, Sandy Lake, both town and township, are advised that the dog shot at Sandy Lake early this week is shown by analysis at Harrisburg to have been the victim of a very severe attack of rabies.

Persons who know the dog to have been on their premises should quarantine their animals if they were bitten. The warning is issued by Agent Harry Higbee of the bureau of animal husbandry.

FARM BUREAU ELECTS

The following directors were elected for a one year term at the annual meeting of the county Farm Bureau held Thursday at the Millburn Grange Hall: Ford Smith of Greenville, Andrew McDowell, Joe Robinson of Mercer, William Armstrong of Volant, Ralph Brenner of Sandy Lake.

The five selected are authorized by the by-laws of the bureau to hold a meeting at once and organize by the election of a president, secretary and treasurer. Four more directors are then to be selected by them or as many more over this number as they deem necessary to conduct the business affairs of the bureau with success.

The last two years there have been women serving along with the men on this official board. Certificates of award granted by the National Dairy Association of America were given to 25 county dairymen at this meeting. This is in recognition of their herd of cows averaging over 300 pounds of butter fat for the last year.

Mercer county ranks among the leaders of the state in this dairy pursuit reports County Agent Hagar who states that the honor is one much sought by dairymen as it is given national recognition and is only possible under the best regulated conditions and with animals of the best known lineage as milk producers.

Washington's Birthday Finds Capital In Grip Of Prohibition Battle

Three Legislators Give Viewpoints On How Washington Would Have Handled Issue

Farewell Message To Congress By Father Of His Country Read In Session Today

By GEORGE R. HOLMES,
International News Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—The 198th anniversary of George Washington's birth found the capital to which he gave his name strife-ridden and storm-torn over an issue concerning which the founder probably never gave a thought—prohibition.

In the halls of congress, where his farewell address was read today, in the executive departments, which he helped to create, even in the White House location he designated, the controversy occupied first place in the multifold list of public questions be-setting the government nearly two centuries after his birth.

Illustrative of the conflict of views, ranging now since Christmas in vir-tuous form and showing no signs of abatement, were the statements today of three different schools of thought on the prohibition question.

The International News Service asked three legislators, of radically different views, to express today their opinions as to what attitude the father of his country would have taken today on the prohibition issue were he confronted with it. Their replies are interesting and indicative of the wide gulf that exists in legislative minds and a gulf that cuts as well across all party lines on this problem.

Senator Morris Sheppard (D) of Texas, author of the Eighteenth Amendment, who is comparatively well satisfied with the results to date, and who deplores the existing furor,
said:

"The position of George Washington on law observance might well be called to mind today when a noisy minority is advocating disobedience of law because the minority is dissatisfied. Washington urged the American people to observe all laws as long as they were in existence, whether all of them believed in some of the laws or not. He believed this doctrine essential to the very existence of a free republic—and he was right."

Rep. George Holden Tinkham (R) of Massachusetts, a militant anti-prohibitionist, who believes present conditions disgraceful, said:

"George Washington's life was dedicated to the independence of his country and the liberty of its citizens.
He was willing to give his life if need be that tyranny and oppression should be forever ended in America.

"No one could read the debates in the constitutional convention over which he presided and which established our form of government, without coming to the inescapable conclusion that he believed that government existed first and foremost for the preservation of the rights and liberty of the individual, and it is inconceivable that with his character and philosophy he would subscribe to the present government by coercion and espionage.

"If there was one man in our history who believed in individualism, in the placing of responsibility upon the individual and holding the individual responsible for its exercise, it was Washington.

"Should George Washington return to the United States today, the one thing he would not understand would be the present perversion of our constitution by the 18th amendment. I cannot conceive that he would not lead the gathering forces against compulsory prohibition."

Between these two utterly divergent views came that of Senator R. B.
Howell (R) Nebraska, a dry, but a dry who is wholly dissatisfied with prohibition "as is" and who has had a considerable part in calling attention to its present shortcomings from the enforcement standpoint.

Senator Howell said:

"I don't believe, on the whole, that there is any more lawlessness or disrespect for law today than there was in Washington's time. As existence becomes more complex, there are greater efforts to violate regulations, because the regulations are greater in number, and then, too, we have concentrated information concerning crime every day over a vast area and affecting 120,000,000 of people. All of this tends to make it appear we are more lawless than were our progenitors in Washington's day."

ABE MARTIN On Big Game Hunting

A GIANT AFRICAN ELAND, CLAIMED BY SOME TO BE HARDER TO BAG THAN A COW

There's jest about as much sport in shootin' a Bengal tiger as there is in takin' a G string away from a blind guitar player, an' there's a lot o' bunk about big game huntin' in Africa,
"miraculous escapes, thrillin' experiences an' terrific combats." There hain't nothin' involved in big game huntin' 'cept expense. There's no hardships, an' so far as danger is concerned, runnin' out o' quinine is the only thing to watch out for. Quinine keeps off fever. Then, too, one mustn' git too close to a rhino, as they're near-sighted. The first thing a big game hunter does, after he's financed is to lay in a carload of tinned provisions, five or six high-powered rifles, ammunition an' a barrel o' quinine.
Then he gits a huntin' permit. This permit allows him to assassinate four elephants, two giraffes, one hippo (male preferred), two gnus, one sacred ibis, one team o' zebras, an' all the hyenas he kin slip up on. These figures are approximately correct. I have no figures on lions, tigers an' crocodiles. Then the hunter contracts with the nearest Zulu king for two or three hundred native hunters who are to take all the chances, an' drive the tigers an' elephants an' other big game under the tree, in top of which a platform has been built, or past an elephant-proof barricade which has been provided for the big game hunter, who sits thereon or therein, armed with a high-powered repeatin' elephant gun. Hyenas, where the terrain permits, are run down an' crushed by Ford cars. Much ammunition is saved in this way. Giraffe shootin' is dangerous on account o' their long hind legs. Giraffes may be safely bagged by chasin' 'em in armored cars or by climbin' up in a tree near a water hole. Africa is evidently dry an' all wild beasts an' birds eventually seek a water hole. A big game hunter might have to wait a day or two for a giraffe to show up, so it is well to be provided with tinned biscuits on account o' ants. In the interior he kin pick off baboons, Thompson gazelles,boa constrictors, a rhino or two, an' mebbe a leopard. Baby rhinos are harmless an' may be killed with a hammer or ice pick. Hippos are found in great numbers in the malarial rivers. They are curious an' sluggish an' any big game hunter who kin hit a rabbit must not have any trouble pickin' off at least three valuable specimens. In huntin' tigers a big game hunter should keep well surrounded by beaters, which he invariably does. First, the tigers lair is located; then a sacred cow is killed an'

the carcass is laid beneath a tree in which the big game hunter is safely stationed on a platform armed with a 50-50 high-powered automatic elephant gun capable of knockin' a steamboat out of the water; the odor of the sacred cow lures the tiger on.

If the wind is O. K. When a sacred cow is not available, a zebra may be used. Zebras are so fat they trot, an' are so marked that a big game hunter can't miss 'em. Often a zebra will give itself up if it sees a big game hunter carries an elephant gun. The hardest beast to hit is the giant African eland, a species of antelope standin' about two hands higher than a moose, which is eight feet. They are not dangerous unless you fool with their horns. Any one who kin hit a two-car garage should have no trouble in addin' an African eland to his bag.
It's greatly to be regretted that our great museums of natural history have only about six or seven specimens each of all the "rare" beasts I've named. No well ordered museum should have less'n nine African elands.
Perhaps the awful expense o' big game huntin' is responsible for the miserable showin' o' lions, tigers, wombats, hippos, elands, etc., etc. I know of at least two museums that only show seven saddle-back tapers.
Lions may be hunted safely with only an Irish setter an' a 22 rifle, but are dangerous only when wounded, same as a domestic ram.

Indian Subjects Self To 35 Lashes As "Liquor Cure"

BOONERS FERRY, Idaho, Feb. 22.—
A self imposed penalty of 35 lashes was the "liquor cure" used by Charles Isadore before he considered himself worthy to stand as chief of the Kootenai Indians.

The penitent chief stood quietly in the snow before members of his tribe and took the lashes across his back to more definitely attest his vow that he had permanently severed connections with the white man's firewater.

Isadore was stripped of his leadership last fall after he had disgraced his tribe by becoming so drunk at a pow-wow that he could not conduct the ceremonies.
A short time ago the ex-chief and two other tribesmen procured a consignment of rubbing alcohol. Their drinking bout ended in a stabbing affray, and all were thrown in the reservation jail. Sobered, they were brought in handcuffs before the new chief for punishment.

Turning to the assembled tribesmen, Isadore said:
"If I, Isadore, chief of the Koot-enais, who will name the punishment for these men, You Alex Pierre and Louis White, will work for seven days on the wood pile and at digging di-ches."

He paused, while the Indian's waited in silence.
"And you, Charles Isadore, I sentence to thirty-five lashes of the whip."

Even before the lashes were administered, Isadore was unanimously proclaimed chief.
His punishment over, Isadore a-air-addressed his tribe.
"Charles Isadore sentences himself to twice thirty-five lashes if ever he drinks the white man's fire water," he said.

Use Stolen Car In Reaching Home To Rob Premises

New Car Of Dr. Foster Is Taken By Thieves Who Loot Township Home

Police of this city were advised at one o'clock this morning by Constable William Pitts of Mt. Jackson, that the home of William Fox, on the Mt.
Jackson and Petersburg road, had been robbed during the absence of the family between the hours of nine
p. m. and midnight Friday.

The information was given that an owner's card for Pennsylvania license 69E19 had been found in the Fox home, which had been thoroughly ransacked.

It was found that this owner's card belonged to Dr. John Foster, 222
North Mercer street, this city. Dr.
Foster was called and found on investigation that his new 1930 model car, which had been parked and locked at the side of his home, had been stolen. It was taken while he and members of his family were on a trip to Youngstown.

This established the rather interesting fact that the persons who perpetrated the theft of his machine had also robbed the Fox home.

The articles reported taken at the Fox home consisted of a Bosch radio, vacuum sweeper, ladies' watch, silverware, child's bank and one-half case of eggs.

The police stated late today that no trace had been received concerning the stolen car of Dr. Foster.

Fayette School Has Colonial Relic Display

(By JANET KISSINGER)

If George Washington could have visited Fayette school, Wilmington township, Friday afternoon, he would have felt right at home.

Friday was patron's day at Fayette school. It was no ordinary patron's day. It was unique for the reason that an exhibit of colonial relics was on display—some of which were old in the days of George Washington, almost two centuries ago.

And a marvelous exhibit it was. There was a pewter drinking cup from Brandywine Castle, Germany, brought to America prior to 1750, the face and works of a Grandfather clock brought from Holland in 1780, a flax spinning wheel, a ladies two horned side saddle, used since 1855, a fat lamp used before the Revolutionary war, a tin lantern, which was square, with perforation to admit the light from a tallow candle.

Then there was a shaving horse and drawn knife used by the early pioneers in making lap shingles to cover their cabins.

Did you ever see a clock with wooden wheels? Well, there was one of these things at the Fayette exhibit, and needless to say, it attracted much interest.

An ox yoke by one of the early pioneer families of Lawrence county, numbered among the curios, and bullet moulds, used in making lead bullets for the nozzle loading rifles, candle moulds, used in making the tallow candles with wick centers, an old flint rock rifle, and a bunch of flax that has been in one family for four generations.

Of interest were two forks with deer horn handles, lead spoon, and old coins from the home of Col. Crawford, at Connellsville, Pa. Col. Crawford was General Washington's agent in Fayette county, and was burned at the stake by the Indians at Sandusky, Ohio.

According to C. W. Beerbower, teacher of Fayette school, and owner of a large portion of the antiques, Col. William Crawford erected a fort near his (Crawford's) home at "Stewart's Crossing," now Connellsville, in 1774. He called his home "Spring Garden." Col. Crawford had come to Stewart's Crossing from Virginia, in 1765. He was an intimate friend of Washington, and was his agent in the development of his western lands.

In addition to these colonial objects on display, were some of more recent date—embroidered towels from Poland and Hungary, gloves and books from Poland, bayonet used in Spanish-American war, set of mounted steer horns from a wild steer killed on the plains, just after the Northern Pacific R. R. was opened.

A part of the Indian arrow collection of Mr. Beerbower was also shown, consisting of stone axes,

Old Money

The old money, part of the collection of C. W. Beerbower, was on display, and was very interesting. There were two, five and twenty dollar bills of the Confederate States of America, a City of Richmond, April 14, 1862, on which were the words "Pay to the bearer ten cents." "Wild cat" or "state money" dated Waynesboro, W. Virginia, September 2, 1861 (a one dollar bill) were all of interest.

Mr. Beerbower's old money collection also included United States fractional currency, known as "shin plasters," four Columbus half dollars, and 93 coins of various denominations including farthing, half cent, three cent piece, half dime, etc.

Old Books

Among the school books on display, were, an English reader by Lindley Murry, printed in 1827, Goodrich's geography, Cobb's New Juvenile Reader, History of United States, by Rev. Charles A. Goodrich (Peter Parley) published in 1828.

Ovid's Art of Love, published in London, in 1811, was interesting, of course. Another interesting book was entitled "Notes on the settlement and Indian wars of the Western parts of Virginia and Pennsylvania, from 1763 to 1783 inclusive, together with a review of the state of society and manners of the first settlers of the Western country," by Joseph Doddridge.

Other Exhibits

Mrs. J. H. Kurtz loaned a Paul Revere type lantern, and candle moulds. A wooden hay fork, over 100 years old and flax hackle, loaned by J. B. Elder, was a unique exhibit.

Mr. and Mrs. S. K. Lapp contributed a squirrel rifle, bullet moulds, shaving horse and flax; Jake Gerber loaned to the exhibit an old flintlock rifle, made by G. Biddle; Mrs. Adam Kupcewicz contributed linen towels made in Poland; Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Mikolecz loaned linen towels and took for making woolen spoons from Poland; and Fred A. Holmes had a bayonet and sheath used in the Spanish-American war, on display. A candle holder was loaned by Mrs. M. L. Furst; a side saddle and flax wheel and pewter cup were loaned by Mrs. C. W. Beerbower.

The patrons and friends of Fayette school were well represented, the following being present: J. B. Elder, Dave Moore, Mrs. Clara Wagner, Miss Anna Wagner, Mrs. Ed. Wagner, Mrs. Freda Holmes, Mrs. Sam Miller, Miss Jane Wilson, Mrs. William McNaughton, Mrs. M. L. Furst, Mrs. S. K. Lapp, Mrs. Mont Neal, Miss Vera Blake, Miss Florence Hartzler, Miss Kauffman, Henry Gibson, Mrs. C. W. Beerbower and Miss E. Lucille Beerbower.

The exhibition was a successful one, and it was truly remarkable that so many valuable relics could be assembled from that locality.

Foster's Weather Forecast

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—Storm wave expected to cross continent during week centering on February 21 will be of moderate force but will cause above normal precipitation in the western Great Central valleys, precipitation is expected to spread to western Great Central valleys, precipitation in that area is not expected to be heavy nor to be sufficient considering future months, but will be sufficient for spring work and the needs of the month. I do not believe that there will be any damaging shortage of moisture nor drought until later in season. Spring officially starts March 21 at 8 hours and 30 minutes Greenwich Civil time.

March Cropweather Features
March cropweather is expected to be of more than usual importance this season, as principal spring moisture for a large area of North America will be expected to depend upon March precipitation. During and following storm center of February 28 precipitation will be expected to increase over the entire area of sections 1, 3 and 5 and west parts of sections 2 and 4, principal increase to be in central parts of sections 1, 3 and 5; precipitation during March expected to be above normal on central and southern Atlantic coast and in central and east Gulf States, decrease, relative to normals, on Pacific slope. A fair cropweather month, averaging a little too cool, but no unusually low temperatures expected. Northern cold waves and southern cool waves are expected to be frequent this month, but I see no storm waves of sufficient force or dangerous aspect to be called equinoctial storms. Southern cool waves are not expected to reach the far south with damaging temperatures during the month. Moderately severe storms centering on 22 will be the most severe of month; moderate storms centering on 15, mild storms centering on 10 and moderately severe storms centering on 22 will all three be expected to average below normal temperatures during passage of storm centers; moderate storms centering on 30 will occur during a short period of above normal temperatures; moderate storms centering on 3 will occur during a period of

The Parent Problem

by GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

Good Deeds Are Incited By Rewards

A lot of foolishness has been said and written against rewards. You have been told that doing right should be its own reward. A very beautiful theory, but it does not always work out well.

Everybody works for rewards. By them, grown-ups, as well as children, are incited to do many good things they otherwise would not do. A smile is a reward; so is an approving word or gesture. Stars are powerful rewards when used intelligently. Even money may be used very effectively to motivate a definite desirable bit of conduct.

The wise mother teaches the infant to give her pins and other things he finds upon the floor by rewarding him with a smiling "thank you." So she teaches him politeness of good toilet habits. An awarded star has stimulated many a little child to sit upon the commode, to urinate or evacuate the bowels at regular intervals. Such means have often aided in overcoming bed-wetting, thumb-sucking and nail-biting in children over three or four.

Think of the scores of young children who happily go to Sunday school regularly for the sake of earning a simple star. Think of the thousands more who arrive at day school promptly and with their hands and faces clean, go to bed on time, and eat wholesome foods, to earn a star. Many good habits can be started with the aid of such rewards and so practiced that they by and by continue under their own power.

Rewards are more to be desired than punishments; and stars are far more powerful than stripes. But, the stars of heaven are too far away to be effective; the child responds to stars which he can handle and enjoy immediately.

What about material rewards? They are good also when well employed. The damage only comes from wrong use of them.

Toys? Yes. Our youngest lad began to visit the dentist before the age of three. He went to grow acquainted with the dentist and to have him scratch and "fiddle" about his teeth. When by and by he had a baby tooth, which needed filling, he was glad to go. On his return he was given a new toy. Soon he learned that every time he visited the dentist a definite reward would follow. He was left at the street entrance to the dentist's office as his father or mother went about their shopping. Pain in the dentist's chair was nothing to this lad with a toy waiting for him. Indeed, even at the age of six, he would sometimes beg to go to the dentist; "I would like to have another toy" he would say.

So, also, his toxin anti-toxin shots had no dread for him. He associated them with an awaiting pleasure. Of course, this scheme of rewards was started early so that there were never times when such expected pains were not followed by the reward. No one told him that if he didn't cry he would get the toy. He knew that he would get it regardless of his conduct. But, as we expected, he did not cry or even register complaint or fear.

Don't, in such trying situations, tell the child of any age, "If you do so and so, you will get a toy." Instead, let him know that when the thing is finished the reward will follow. Take it for granted he is going to be brave, and if he is not, you have not failed. The pain will be more easily borne by him next time and the fears more easily overcome.

Monday: Money as Rewards.

Veteran To Get Addition To Bonus

Will Receive Additional Adjusted Compensation Denied Him In 1925

Frank Merline, Pennsylvania R. R. shopman, will soon have several hundred dollars added to his Adjusted Service Certificate, which had been mistakenly omitted when the certificates were issued in 1925.

Frank was one of the first men to be sent to France, having been shipped over seas with the 35th Railways engineers on December 12, ar-iving in France on Christmas Day, 1917.

He left New Castle with the local secretary of the Red Cross and by a peculiar quirk of fate, returned to the United States on the same boat. When he came in to make a loan on his certificate the other day, Secretary Allen noticed that Merline's papers called for several hundred dollars less than he himself was getting, although Merline had served in France for approximately 16 months.

The Adjutant General's office was apprised of the fact, and stated that the deficit would be made up when due proof of service was given, which is now being forwarded.

Must Have Sons Buried In France To Get Pilgrimage

Law Reads That Relatives Must Now Be Buried In Foreign Cemeteries

Numerous inquiries have been made of late by mothers and widows of soldiers, who died in the service, but who were not buried in French or English cemeteries, asking if they cannot take advantage of the pilgrimage, which the government is arranging for Gold Star mothers and widows of veterans killed in action.

The law reads that only mothers and widows of veterans who were members of the army, navy and marine corps, and who are now buried in French or English cemeteries can make this pilgrimage.

The government has notified all those eligible to make the trip and asked them to state whether they are desirous of going or not.

As far as can be learned there are only four eligible in Lawrence county, three of whom have signified their intention of going to visit the spot where their relatives are buried.

Man In Coma 63 Days Mystifies Doctors

ASHLAND, Wis., Feb. 22.—Doctors today fought to break the grip of a mysterious malady that has kept an unidentified man in a coma for 63 days in a hospital here. The stranger, dazed and suffering a broken leg, was found near Mellon, Wis., December 16. He lies on a hospital cot, his eyes registering no hint of recognition as hundreds pass by trying to identify him. He gives no indication of being conscious of their presence.

The malady, according to Dr. Del Andrews, has puzzled all physicians who have examined the man.

While admitting that the semi-conscious condition might be a clever hoax, Dr. Andrews said there is little evidence to show the coma is not authentic.

At times the man appears entirely unconscious. Again he rallies to semi-consciousness and mumbles a labored "yes" or "no" in answer to questions.

THE QUESTION BOX

Answers to questions of information and fact can be obtained by writing to Central Press Bureau, P. O. Box 126, Washington, D. C., and enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope. No answers will be given to marital, medical or legal questions.

To give credit to a single individual for any one of the world's great inventions seldom is possible. Most of them were developed gradually. Michael Faraday discovered the dynamo principle in 1831. Charles Wheatstone applied it practically in 1841, with improvement following improvement to the present day. Johann Gutenberg, of the mid-15th century, usually is spoken of as the first printing pressman, but some authorities say Laurens Janson Coster preceded him by a few years. However, the Chinese were printers before Christ was born. William Nicholson of London, patented the first steam-driven cylinder press in 1790. In the same year, Nathan Read, another Briton, patented the first automobile—a steamer. Gottlieb Daimler contributed the gas engine in 1884. Maybe George Selden, of Rochester (N. Y.), with his application of the internal combustion principle in 1895, should be deemed the father of the modern car.

There is no "premium" on any coin. That is, no coin will COMMAND any particular price in excess of its face. If it is rare, it may have an especial value to a collector, but how much he will pay depends on what he can afford and how badly he wants the coin. A dealer is like any amateur fan except that he is apt to be a harder bargainer, inasmuch as he wants a profit. Indian head pennies are worth no more than Lincoln pennies.

1. Must an aviator have a high school education? 2. How much schooling must he have? 3. How can he secure such employment? 1. Not to enter civilian aviation schools. 2. He ought to have at least a primary school education, but there have been exceptions. 3. Aviation schools and flying fields would be natural places to look for work. A start might be obtained by serving without pay for awhile as a mechanic.

What are the prospects of a Nicaragua canal?

The United States has a treaty with Nicaragua authorizing a route from the mouth of the San Juan river, up the river, thence to Lake Nicaragua, across the lake and through the mountains to a Pacific outlet approximately at San Juan del Sur, a survey has been made and another is starting, but that a canal will be dug and, if so, when, can only be surmised. There are rival routes. Enlarged facilities at Panama also are deemed by some engineers a better solution of the problem, at least for years to come.

In what classes of work is algebra likeliest to be practically useful? Notably architecture, engineering, chemistry and mechanics.

THE 1930 NASH "400"

Nash is the car with the OIL CUSHIONED CHASSIS SUPERIOR PERFORMANCE!

TWIN-IGNITION EIGHT
TWIN-IGNITION SIX
.... SINGLE SIX

EVERY Nash "400" model, including those of lowest price, is now equipped with a modern system of centralized chassis lubrication. Nash "400" chassis bearings ride on a cushion of oil. Not just once in a while, or for a day or so after you happen to put your car in a service station for greasing. But every day, and without the bother of service station attention, the "400" chassis gives you the riding smoothness and the longer chassis life that only perfect chassis lubrication can give. And every Twin-Ignition Eight and Six model is now built with lifetime lubricated springs—lubrication sealed inside flexible steel spring covers—permanent protection against rust, squeaks, wear and ineffectual spring action. The combination of centralized lubrication and lifetime lubricated springs creates an oil-cushioned chassis—another reason for the superior performance that distinguishes the 1930 Nash "400!"

To Honor All Charter Members Of Y. W. C. A. At Luncheon On March 5; Seek Names Of These Members

To honor all the charter members of the Y. W. C. A., the membership committee of this association, is planning a luncheon to be held at the "Y" Wednesday, March 5.

"New Castle News" of 1907, tells of the opening of temporary quarters in the rooms over Frey's grocery store, on the corner of Washington and Mill streets.

In April of the following year, a permanent location was found in the Wood Block.

Miss Grace Erhardt was the first general secretary of the local Young Woman's Association, and the first official members of the Board of Directors were Mrs. I. B. Griffith, president; Mrs. George Greer, 1st vice president; Mrs. T. A. Kimes, 2nd vice president; Mrs. J. C. Norris, 3rd vice president; Mrs. E. A. Donnan, 4th vice president; Miss Carrie Jeffrey, secretary; Mrs. Elizabeth Royce, treasurer; and T. W. Phillips, J. J. Dean and M. S. Marquis were trustees.

Miss Cora M. Irby was the first physical director.

Had 1000 Charter Members

The Y. W. C. A. had 1000 charter members but only a partial list of these charter members can be found. Who are they? Where are they? How many are still in New Castle?

In their efforts to locate and entertain all the original members at the luncheon, the membership committee desires all charter members, whose names do not appear on the following list to call the Y. W. C. A.

This is a distinguished and novel event in the annals of the local "Y" so, if you were a charter member and your name is not on this list, do not neglect to call 748.

The names so far known are as follows:

A
Allen, Mrs.
Aiken, Miss Mary
Andrews, Miss Cora
Atkinson, Miss Mable

Patriotic decorations were used in addition to cut flowers to beautify the tables and the stage was elaborately decorated with plants, thanks to the contribution of Arthur J. Rees.
Mrs. Lida Hanna gave greetings to the assemblage and a dinner program of music and speaking was carried out.

Mrs. Gilbert Thomas pleased with a solo and the Misses Mann and Zeigler gave a vocal duet. Section E presented a humorous skit, "The Road to Tomorrow," which afforded much amusement. Section C contributed its bit to the entertainment in the form of a little one-act playlet, "The Bachelor's Dream." To say this created a lot of mirth would be putting it too mildly.

After the delicious menu had been fully discussed, the teacher of the men's class, Rev. S. B. Copeland, and the president, William Francis, expressed their appreciation for the evening's splendid entertainment and hoped they would be the winners in the next contest.

HIGHLIGHTS OF HISTORY

By J. Carroll Mansfield

The Story Of American Industry
Whitney Invents The Cotton Gin, 1793

AFTER THE REVOLUTIONARY WAR, THE GREAT-EST ADVANCE IN AMERICAN AGRICULTURE WAS IN THE RAISING OF COTTON. FOR WHICH THE SOIL OF THE INTERIOR OF THE SOUTH WAS PARTICULARLY ADAPTED. THE GROWTH OF TEXTILE MANUFACTURING IN GREAT BRITAIN RESULTED IN AN INCREASED DEMAND FOR COTTON TO BE MADE INTO CLOTH.

AT THAT TIME THE SEEDS WERE PICKED OUT OF THE TANGLED MASS OF COTTON FIBER BY HAND BY NEGRO SLAVES. AS IT TOOK A MAN ALL DAY TO CLEAN A SINGLE POUND OF COTTON, SO MANY SLAVES WERE REQUIRED AND SO MUCH TIME SPENT IN THE PROCESS, THAT THERE WAS LITTLE PROFIT FOR THE PLANTER IN THE INDUSTRY UNLESS HE CHARGED A VERY HIGH PRICE FOR HIS PRODUCT.

IN 1793, ELI WHITNEY, A NATIVE OF MASSACHUSETTS AND A GRADUATE OF YALE WHO HAD GONE TO GEORGIA AS A TUTOR, INVENTED THE COTTON "GIN" (SHORT FOR "ENGINE"), A MACHINE FOR CLEANING COTTON. IT CONSISTED OF TWO ROLLERS, ONE COVERED WITH TEETH, THE OTHER WITH LITTLE BRUSHES, WHICH REMOVED THE SEEDS FROM THE FIBER.

WHITNEY'S GIN, OPERATED BY ONE MAN, COULD CLEAN A THOUSAND POUNDS OF COTTON A DAY. WHITNEY HAD SOLVED THE PLANTERS' PROBLEM, AND THE PRODUCTION OF COTTON INCREASED UNTIL IT BECAME THE LEADING INDUSTRY OF THE SOUTH. IT WAS NOT LONG BEFORE COTTON CLOTH CAME DOWN WITHIN THE REACH OF ALL.

Mahoney-Weiss Ready For Bout Here On Monday

Light-Heavyweights Will Fling Gloves In Main Bout At Jolly Bowl Monday Evening

CLASSY PRELIM CARD ARRANGED

When "Choo-choo" trains leave Chicago and Philadelphia at midnight tonight sleeping berths will contain Jimmy Mahoney and Willie Weiss, who are scheduled to box 10 rounds Monday night at Jolly Bowl. The light-heavyweights will end training this afternoon and expecting for a light limbering-up exercise here tomorrow will not fling gloves until they answer the bell at the bowl.

Ray Alvin will accompany Mahoney from Chicago and Al Lippe will assume charge of Weiss. Mahoney and Weiss have not met in the ring before and naturally fans who are interested in boxing will be crowded in the bowl to see the light-heavyweights clash.

There will be three other bouts: Classy Preliminaries

In the semi-final windup Bud Dempsey of Ambridge and Jackie Ward of Cleveland will square off again. These two little mites staged a whirlwind battle here two weeks ago, and were immediately signed up for another fast exhibition. The boys had the fans hanging onto their seats in their first fight, and they are sure to be popular when they clash again Monday night. The bout the first time they fought was called a draw. Both boys are willing workers and they are going out for a knockout this trip.

Frankie Frey, New Castle boy, is billed to battle Jimmy Miller of Cleveland in another six-round bout. The boys will weigh around 155 to 160 pounds. Frey has been in the ring before and although he lost to Jimmy Hogan put up a good fight. Miller is said to be a clever boxer and may give the local boy trouble.

In the opening six-round bout Frankie Lands, another local product, goes to the center of the ring to battle Danny Burns of Cleveland. The boys will weigh about 120 pounds. This bout should be a good one. Lands is a determined lad and wants to win by a knockout.

The bell will ring at 8:30 o'clock calling the boys to their work. The referee and judges will not be made known until the Deputy Boxing Commissioner reaches New Castle Monday afternoon.

All in all it looks like another slam bang night for Jolly Bowl.

THE BOY LEARNS ABOUT GEORGE WASHINGTON

Titans Will Battle Presidents Tonight

Westminster Team Seeks Another Win In District Play This Evening

Dukes And Grove City On Titan Card For Next Week As Feature Games

By "BUGS"

Westminster college basketball team, district leaders, will further seek to entrench themselves at the head of the western Pennsylvania college teams tonight when they tackle W. & J. at the New Wilmington floor. The Titans hold a 28 to 18 victory over the Presidents at Little Washington.

The Lawthermen are favorites to cop the game tonight. Last night W. & J. took one on the nose from Allegheny 41 to 20 at Meadville, and they will be a little tired after such an exhibition. They may, however, cause the Titans a little trouble. Pitt only beat this team 30 to 20 down at Washington, which isn't so hot, you know.

The game tonight should be a good workout for the Westminster lads in preparation for their two hard games next week with Duquesne and Grove City.

Dukes Beat Grovers.
The Dukes last night socked the Grovers 31 to 27 down at Pittsburgh. It is something anyhow. The Titans and Dukes get chummy next Tuesday at New Wilmington.

Bethany swamped Thiel 57 to 21 in a game at Bethany last night. It was a Tri-State conference game. Thiel certainly is shot this year.

If Westminster takes the W. & J. boys tonight—and by the way, this is Washington's birthday, quite appropriate, isn't it?—then the Titans will have a firm foothold on the district leadership. If West Virginia can only clip the claws of the ferocious Panther tonight, wouldn't it be wonderful. Don't stay away from this game as New Wilmington tonight just because the affair doesn't sound so hot, remember things can happen to any team. W. & J. might be good tonight and then again they may not, but all the world's a stage and most of us are only stage-hands anyhow.

The Titans have had a nice long rest and are ready to take up the matter of flipping field goals where field goals should be flipped.

Bowlers Defeated By Lehigh Team

It's a tough break if you lose when you win. Two games out of three is considered a win in Lehigh, but in bowling the total number of pins in three games is what counts, not the number of games won. On this basis, Boston might have won the National League pennant.

The News Editorial bowling team and the Lehigh Cement office team, renewed hostilities Friday evening for the spring championship of the quarries, and remembering what happened in the first game of the series last December, the cement men jumped into the fray with every available weapon. What they did to the news writers in that first set to is a sad story and winning the next two games was only a moral victory for the News team.

Some grief is too poignant to bear much description. Much could be said that will be left unsaid, but the News writers have an alibi, have a flock of alibis in fact, all of which are quite useful. Alibis are such useful things, like buttons on coat sleeves.

The scores will tell the story much more effectively than any article. And between the typewriter shows the following result.

Yankees Start South Today For Spring Training

By DAVIS J. WALSH

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—Just one of the mugs drawing cards now, where for eight years they kept the bank, ran the wheel and made all of the house rules, the New York Yankees are riding south today for the probable purpose of getting themselves all ready to lose. It used to be their "game." Now they are playing the other man's and they say this is a racket you can't beat.

The American League race, in fact, ought to be a pretty soft touch for the Athletics, meaning soft like Indiana limestone to the party who feels it. The Athletics are playing the hand that won for them last year, whereas the Yanks can do no more than gamble that a loser in 1929 will be a winner this time. Bookmakers have been known to run such a commission into an awful cavity. Anyhow, two to one are the universal odds against a four or a ten with the dice and the Yanks really should be a longer price than that. They are trying to fill the dead man's draw—an inside straight between one corner of the infield and the other.

At the moment, a young man by the name of Ben Chapman is elected to play third base another by the name of "Dusty" Cooke is supposed to play left field.

The summary:

Bessemer High Wins From New Wilmington

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Feb. 22.—Bessemer high school clinched the Class B county title in the New Wilmington last evening. The Bessemer boys were unbeatable in their game and New Wilmington without the services of three regular players was no match for them. The final score was 34-10 and New Wilmington worked for every point that they were fortunate enough to get.

Bessemer gave an exhibition of an airtight defense and was great on the offense, keeping the New Wilmington team shooting from the center of the floor, and holding them to four field goals. Bessemer played a great game. Vlah and Plevnic divided scoring honors between them with 11 points apiece. The great guarding of Capt. Hartwell of New Wilmington was the bright light for New Wilmington.

In the preliminary game, the New Wilmington Girls romped home with another victory, keeping their record clean for the season. With a final score of 39-27, New Wilmington made their position sure and practically won the title in the girls league for the season. They have lost only one game this season, and that to Sharpsville, a Mercer County Class A school, by a one point margin. Miss Gertrude Minner continued her scoring

East Brook High Takes Double Bill From Union High

East Brook Boys Win Thriller From Union 26 To 24 In Extra Period

Last night was a bad night for Union high basketball teams. Playing at East Brook high, the Union high girls and boys were defeated. The score of the boys game was 26 to 24 in an extra-period game, and the East Brook girls beat Union 27 to 7.

The boys game was perhaps the best played at East Brook's floor this year. The East Brook team went into the lead at 6 to 0 at the end of the first quarter, but Coach Boyd gave his Union team a good talking to and things were different for the remainder of the game. The score was 21 all at the end of the regulation period, but the Union team was ahead 26 to 24 at the end of the extra period.

Final League Game
It was the final game of the league season for East Brook, with the boys winning six and losing four.

In the girls game the East Brook maidens had things their own way evidently. The score was 27 to 7. Union tried hard, but could not locate the hoops successfully. The playing of Miss Simmon who caged seven baskets featured for East Brook. Donley and Patton were the best for Union.

QUEBEC, Feb. 22.—Leopard Seppala still maintained a lead of half a minute today in the Annual Eastern International Dog Derby as the entrants waited the start of the third leg of the race.

Emile St. Goddard, the past musher, won the second leg yesterday when he turned the 41 miles in three hours, 33 minutes and 35 seconds. Seppala was second.

Seppala's elapsed time for the first leg, which he won, and the second leg, is 7:30:39 while that of Goddard for the two legs is 7:31:07.

Sport's Big Money Stars

The biggest single prize ever offered for a links victory was won by Gene Sarazen recently when he captured the first annual Agua Caliente golf derby for which he received a $10,000 check, twice the amount ever earned in the past for such an exploit. It was a regulation 72-hole tournament over a difficult new course at this Mexican sporting resort, 18 holes over played on each of four successive days. Sarazen came from fifth place at the start of the final round to win the ten "grand" with a blazing 68 for a total of 294!

Interesting reports have it that on the eve of the derby's start, Sarazen, Leo Diegel and Johnny Farrell agreed that should any one of them win the $10,000 prize, he would give the others $1,000 each. Gene did so cheerfully, besides making the accustomed liberal contribution to the professional golfers' fund, which left Sarazen with a net of about $6,000. With his January Miami open and other minor winnings, Sarazen's gross this season up to February 15 has been about $11,000 exceeding that of Horton Smith, golf's next best money-maker—by about $1,500.

Considering the colossal skill required, golf is one of the least profitable of sports for its stars. A professional who wins a U. S. or British open championship can make between $40,000 and $50,000 a year. Walter Hagen has done as well that for many years. Horton Smith has approached such prosperity in his first big year as a pro (he will be 22 next May) but most of the great pros are lucky to average $15,000 a year.

Pro basketball looms more prosperous than before with the news that the National Basketball Association will get about $12,000 for this season's services. Holman is one of the greatest basketballers ever. Few, if any, have even approached the salary he is now being paid.

Baseball—with Babe Ruth in the van—has come into the so-called "big money" class since the World War. The Bam has jumped from the $20,000 to the $70,000 payroll listing in less than ten years. He has been demanding $85,000 for each of the next three years. He probably will get $80,000 on a two-year basis.

Organized baseball is trying to reel in and many stars, especially those who faded noticeably last season, must take big cuts in 1930 or quit the game. The great "Dazzy" Vance—at $25,000 in 1929 the highest-priced pitcher in history—will hardly collect a salary approaching that again, at least as a pitcher.

Of course, the outstanding pluto-crats of sports are the champion or near-champion heavyweight boxers. Compared to those fortunates of the fist, even Ruth is only a modest business success and chaps like Hagen, Horton Smith, Nat Holman et al are but junior bond salesmen just out of college!

Rocco Loses To Frankie Simms

Emmett Rocco, Ellwood City Heavyweight Loses Decision To Simms In Cleveland

Emmett Rocco, Ellwood City heavyweight dropped the decision to Frankie Simms, Cleveland, in a main-bout 10-round go, at the Cleveland Public Auditorium on Friday night. It was a good battle and found Simms the strongest at the finish.

The big Slovenian had the better of the milling all the way, with Rocco respecting his trusty hard hitting right hand. Tom McMahon was the referee and gave the decision to Simms. Rocco was willing to mix with Simms but just couldn't land any vital blows.

Simms weighed 204 and Rocco tipped the beam at 188.

Paul Proone of Cleveland kayoned Andy DiVodi in the first round of their scheduled fight, in the semi-final.

Ray Conger To Compete In Mile

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—Ray Conger is the first outstanding runner to accept an invitation to compete in this year's renewal of the Columbian mile, a feature of the annual indoor meet of the New York Chapter, Knights of Columbus. It was announced today.

The games will be held in Madison Square Garden March 12.

It was also announced an effort will be made to arrange another international duel for this race, known yearly as the "mile of the century."

Dr. Paul Martin of Switzerland, and Stanislaw Poklewicz of Poland, may make the Columbian mile a three-corner international event.

Conger won the Casey mile a year ago in the Garden with his fastest mile performance, 4:13 2-5, beating Leo Lermond, Elmo Purje and Edwin Wide.

In an effort to recover a costly jeweled ring, detectives have spent two days dragging a huge Kansas City laundry tub. Sounds like a diamond of the first water.—The Butte Daily Post.

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 22.—An exciting and thrilling contest took place in the Lincoln gym Friday night when the New Castle high school basketball lassies played the Ellwood girls, the former winning by a close score of 28-25. It was a hectic contest as the winners sought revenge for the setback in their first encounter. At the half the score stood 13-13, but the McGoun machine edged ahead in the last period.

Ellwood Loses Close Contest

New Castle Wins Basketball Game After Hard Battle

FIRST HALF IS AN EVEN COUNT

By TONY PASTA

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 22.—A strong rally in the last period enabled the New Castle High invaders of basketball against the Ellwood High quint here last night to register another victory, when they toppled the locals with a score of 21-11. The first half was a special interest as the score stood 6 to 6.

The game took place in the Lincoln gymnasium and attracted the largest crowd of the season. Crowds thronged the bleachers to see the ancient rivals clash again and it was a real battle from start to finish. Coach Bridenbaugh's machine was determined to win, realizing the importance of this tilt. Neither team seemed to be able to score as the first quarter got under way. New Castle scored only one goal but added three from the foul line. The Tubers caged one marker.

In the next period the blue and white got an edge on the winners as they piled up four points while the opponents secured one to bring the fray to a deadlock. Ellwood continued the good work as the third stanza swung into action. The battle was still close as the count ended 11-9.

As the finishing session started the red and black began their old tricks and piled up a total of eleven tallies. The blue and white seemed a little discouraged and their close guarding began to crash under the heavy attack. Coach Ingle's quint put up a great battle and guarded the enemy like a hawk forcing the red and black to take plenty of wild shots. The winners were granted a flock of fouls and made most of their count.

With this victory under their belt the Lawrence County seaters look like champs of section three of the W. P. I. A. L. Butler is the only team which can now mar the clean slate of the Bridenbaugh machine.

Hannon was the big gun of the battle as he alone collected six buckets. His stellar playing was one of the main cogs in coping the tilt for the red and black.

McKim, Cloak, King and Dudick each contributed to the scoring for Ellwood as they sank one goal apiece. King's dribbling was a brilliant piece of work and was the mainstay on the Tubers' line.

Ellwood High will bring its season to a close next Friday night when the high school quint travels to Zellenople for the closing contest. The lineup:
New Castle
King F Wanio
Cloak F Rowe
McKim C Alexander
Dudick G McAuley
Rossman G N. Ruahn
Substitutions: Stasick for Rossman, Hannon for Wanio, Field Goals: McKim, Cloak, King, Dudick, Wanio 1, Hannon 6, Alexander 1.
Fouls: Cloak 0-1, Rossman 2-3, Dudick 1-2, Rowe 2-2, Uratin 1-1, McAuley 0-1, Alexander 1-1 Wanio 1-2, Hannon 0-1.
Referee: Buck Snyder.

Dr. Wingerd Gives Address At Annual Father-Sons Banquet

Two Hundred Fathers And Sons Of Presbyterian Church Enjoy Fine Program Friday

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 22.—The annual fathers and sons banquet of the First Presbyterian church took place Friday evening in the dining room of the church.

The address of the evening was delivered by Dr. Charles B. Wingerd, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church of New Castle. He built his theme about an acrostic on the word "Watch" and developed it in an interesting and humorous manner.

The delicious menu was served by the ladies of the church at long tables decorated with tulips. Dallas W. Veon, in charge of the affair, introduced Attorney J. W. Humphrey as master of ceremonies, who in turn introduced the various parts of the fine program in a witty manner.

Music was furnished by Ray Humphrey and his orchestra. A feature of the program was the performance of George Dibble who, accompanied by Mr. Mustaine, rendered two lovely tenor solos. Rev. A. M. Stevenson led the stent singing.

The toast was given by Chester Wilson, while W. A. Kerr eloquently responded with a toast to the sons.

Another feature worthy of special mention was the exhibition of black art demonstrated in an almost professional manner by Howell Williams and Dale Wilson, both students at Geneva.

The way things disappeared and re-appeared caused juvenile eyes to bulge.

The meeting closed with two solos by Charles B. Richards, accompanied at the piano by Edwin Lewis.

STARS OF YESTERDAY

By AL WINFIELD

For a short-career pitcher I don't think modern baseball has produced a man with the brilliance of Amos Rusie. He was a flash of golden lightning who dazzled the fans for a few years and then faded so rapidly that he was gone from the pinnacle before baseball men could believe it.

Rusie did not care much for training and liked good times. In the sport world not even the greatest can stand such a combination and Rusie was one of the best.

Amos came up to the Giants from Indianapolis in 1890 and from the start his career was meteoric. The season was barely underway before the National league knew that a star had risen in their midst, a star of the grandest magnitude.

Rusie threw a blazing curve ball that was the fastest I ever saw. It looked unhitatable. And it was. Deceptive to the nth degree, Rusie's shots smoked by bewildered batters who stood with bat glued to shoulders or waved their clubs feebly in the air after the sphere had crashed into the catcher's mitt. In that first season Rusie fanned 345 men.

That was a record. But Rusie also set another record that year. He gave 276 bases on balls.

The following year Rusie hurled a no-hit game against the Brooklyn. In 1897 he led the National league pitchers with a game-won average of .784.

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 22.—The party which was sponsored by members of the J. Wilbur Randolph Post of the American Legion in honor of the auxiliary last night in the Legion rooms, was well attended and immensely enjoyed.

Beside the many who did not play cards there were twelve tables of bridge and two of 500 in play. At the conclusion of the evening prizes were awarded to high score honors among the men and women.

There followed a delicious lunch served by the committee, in charge headed by Lou Edelman. The successful evening wound up with an informal dancing program.

New Castle Man Is Floorman In Hotel In Bowery

Cold weather and unemployment in New York crowded and overcrowded the lodging houses of the various charitable institutions according to a story in the New York World, credited to Charles Van Brocklin, who is said to be a former New Castle man, now a floorman in the Salvation Army Hotel in the Bowery.

In the article Mr. Van Brocklin is quoted as saying that the hotel was overcrowded at night, every one of the 611 beds being occupied, 200 sitting up in the lobby, and 150 more before the main entrance.

The men cannot take work shoveling snow because their clothes are so poor that they cannot stand the exposure. Mr. Van Brocklin is credited with saying, and the Salvation Army has twice as many jobless men on its hands this winter as it usually does.

Its age is a private matter

It is very difficult to discover, by its appearance, how old a Lincoln is. Lincoln believes in making automobiles so beautiful that they are always modern, so durable that they simply won't wear out. The age of a Lincoln is no one's concern—least of all its owner's. On the boulevards a Lincoln of last season and the newest model share honors equally with Lincolns years older than either.

So fine is this car that a year or so of use does not perceptibly detract from any of its splendid qualities. Lincoln owners are often men who can, and do, provide the best professional care for their cars. Sometimes such wellkept cars are available at very attractive prices from Lincoln dealers. The wisdom of investing in such a motor car is quite evident, and shrewd buyers are quick to take advantage of the opportunity.

A few such Lincolns are now to be seen on our floor. Every one is in perfect mechanical condition. We are always glad to demonstrate them to you, without the slightest obligation. Drop in today.

Parchments Found Along Euphrates Furnish Scientists With Information

RECORDS TELL OF EVENTS BEFORE CHRIST

By GENE KOWSKY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Feb. 22.—Buried in the dry sand near the banks of the Euphrates River for nearly 2000 years, parchment records of the ancient City of Doura have furnished scientists much invaluable information concerning the Parthian civilization.

Information regarding the search for the parchment records being made by the Yale Expedition at the site of the city, was given by Professor Alfred Bellinger, of Yale University, upon his return from a visit to the scene of the excavations.

Doura was founded in the third century B. C., by Nicator, a general on the staff of Seleucus, who was in turn one of Alexander's generals, Professor Bellinger explained. In the second century, B. C., Doura passed into Parthian hands and became a part of that civilization. For a short time it was part of the Roman Empire, but later it became part of Rome to which state it was subjected until the third century A. D., when it was sacked and destroyed by the Sassanians.

"The city's peculiar advantages as a point of exploration lies in the fact that in it are traces of all the civilization through which it has passed," the Yale savant declared. "So little is known of the Parthian civilization, for instance, that the objects of this period uncovered at Doura assume a striking interest. In most Parthian cities the Sassanian civilization succeeded and obliterated the former, but so far as was able to be learned, the Sassanians never occupied Doura, and thus the Parthian construction was left untouched."

The Macedonians, who founded the city introduced the Greek language and the style of architecture. Both remained through history, so that most of the inscriptions are easily understood. Although the Greeks are a small minority, their language prevailed. One inscription was found in Latin, two in Semetic and the remainder in Greek, Professor Bellinger said. "Originally little was known of the city of Doura, but the records and manuscripts and inscriptions have given us a clear idea of its history, its customs, its officials and other matters. The earth in that district is so dry that the documents have remained intact although buried in the sand for more than 1,700 years," the Yale Professor stated. The records, although of little value in themselves, were termed of great value to scientists because they supplied the names of officials of the city and other historical data.

The Yale Expedition, working together with the French government, has been on the site for more than a year, and indications were, Professor Bellinger stated, that at least another year of work was necessary. "There are two temples in the town, one to Artemis, and one to Atargatis, the great Syrian goddess, but most of the finds were made in the bottoms of the city towers where the documents were discovered. There were still towers unexplored and those will be gone over within the next year. "Considerable material found at Doura is now in the Yale Gallery of Fine Arts, and more is to be sent here from time to time. When the work of excavation is completed, scientists will probably know considerably more about the third century and about the Parthian civilization than ever before."

Archeologists Dig Up Bones Of Mongolian Race At Point Barrow

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 22.—Relics of a people who lived in Alaska thousands of years ago, and who differed greatly from the present day Eskimo, have been received by the University of Pennsylvania museum from its expedition near Point Barrow, it was announced today.

The collection included objects of wood, ivory and whalebone and a quantity of skeletal material.

This material, according to Dr. J. Alden Mason, curator of the American section of the museum, is typical of an early population known to archeologists as the Thule culture. These people may have been an offshoot from Mongolian tribes who once wandered over the Siberian wastes and crossed the Bering Sea into Alaska.

In a report to the museum, Alfred H. Hopsen, director of the Alaskan expedition, said that discovery of several human bones protruding from a mound led to the finding of the burial place of more than 30 bodies.

None of the graves was more than two feet deep. The bodies had been placed on driftwood planks. Various implements were found between posts hammered into the ground about four feet from either side of the head. There were no coffins, each body having been wrapped in animal skins.

Further excavation revealed several unique houses, unlike the conventional Eskimo igloo. They were rectangular in shape and constructed of whalebone and driftwood, similar to houses used by people of the Thule culture on the east coast of Siberia.

Graves Of Monks To Be Cinder Path

Soviet Turns Monastery's Cemetery Into Athletic Field

MOSCOW, Feb. 22.—On the site of the 600-year-old Simonov Monastery, now being razed, the Soviet government plans to erect a huge palace of labor with gymnasiums and club rooms for workers.

The graveyard of the monastery, in which hundreds of the notables of the Greek Orthodox church and the nobility of the czar's courts lie buried, will be leveled into an athletic field.

This is only part of the program that the government has decreed toward obliterating all vestiges of religion and turning the vast church properties into buildings for the amusement of the people or the economical advancement of the state. In its hey-day, the Simonov Monastery was one of the richest and most influential centers of the Greek Orthodox church in the world. The sacrists and chapels contained invaluable treasures. Its huge walls and stately buildings are falling before blasts of dynamite. Factory workers for months will spend their spare time assisting in the wrecking.

The first blast completely shattered the Cathedral of the Assumption and scattered the bones of Saints Sergius, Jonah and others entombed within, in all directions. A vertebra was found on the top of the tombstone of a seventeenth century nobleman, 100 yards away.

"Originally little was known of the city of Doura, but the records and manuscripts and inscriptions have given us a clear idea of its history, its customs, its officials and other matters. The earth in that district is so dry that the documents have remained intact although buried in the sand for more than 1,700 years," the Yale Professor stated.

HOPEFUL PATIENTS SWARM CLINIC

Because of the announcement of a possible cure for cancer made by Doctors John D. Humber and W. B. Coffey, of San Francisco, hundreds of cancer victims swarmed the building in which the doctors' offices are located. The doctors explained that their discovery is still in the experimental state while officers of the American Medical association warned persons not to regard it as a positive cure.

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—"Hobo" Jim Tully wrote a piece in Vanity Fair in which he said something about John Gilbert that Ina Claire's husband took exception to. They met in a restaurant the other night. Gilbert strode over to Tully in a menacing manner. Tully kissed John with his fist and John kissed the floor. And now Benjy Franklin, Baltimore fight promoter, wants to match John and "Hobo" in The Battle of a Thousand Centuries, offering a purse of ten "grand" if the kids will sign articles, their wives acting as seconds.

FOX TRADE MARK
Ever since William Fox, moving picture producer, has had his mustache shaved off, the Duchess draws one on in lead pencil whenever she sees his picture in the paper. "I want William Fox to look like William Fox," she says.

NO RESENTMENT
Lend ear to Doc Karl A. Menninger, whose book, "The Human Mind," is the Littry Guild choice for February: "It is ignorance which makes people regard abnormality only with horror. . . . surely, anyone who achieves anything at all is abnormal. I presume that most of the people in 'Who's Who' would resent being called 'normal.'"

ANSWER THIS
Brother A. S. Shelton, president of the Personal Magnetism Club of America, says: "I can so magnetize your personality that people will be drawn to you at once, irresistibly. I can make you a magnet of human attraction so that you will be popular everywhere, in any society and any business."

CRIMINAL PRETENSE
Half the tough hombres slouchin' round town, totin' guns and talking out of the corner of their mouth aren't really tough hombres at all. They're just mental defectives who read of crimes of violence and think it smart to be hard-boiled.

Newspapers can do a lot in discouraging these nitwits by ceasing the practice of glorifying their activities verbally. Instead of calling them "gangsters," refer to them as "rats." Stamp them in the public mind as yellow. Stress the cowardice that overflows their energies. Give them the taint that the greaser carries on the Mexican border.

The same thing applies to those engaged in less violent forms of crime. Your average swindler has an ego with a biceps muscle on it that bulges like a loaf of Vienna bread. Refer to him as a contemptible little thief instead of a "racketeer" and watch him duck.

Nine out of ten criminals have to swagger to save themselves from groveling.

"CASHING IN" ON ROTHSTEIN
They're going to run another Arnold Rothstein show called "Room 349" in which is featured Inez Norton.

Inez is the lady who tried to collect Arnold's 20 "grand" life insurance, explaining in open court she thought the dough belonged to her in the role of Mr. Rothstein's lady friend.

As many of them as could on Broadway have cashed in on the late unlamented gambler and dope peddler. But they had to cash in on him dead. They never got a look-in while he trod Fraudway.

THE MODERN GIRL
The Out-of-Town-Man-About-Town dining the other evening at a Park avenue inn with two young women, passed his cigaret case to the first and then the other, to be refused by both.

"It's quite a relief," he remarked, "to run across two old-fashioned girls who don't smoke."

"My dear man," one of them corrected, "you're wrong about the old-fashioned part. It's the really modern girl who doesn't smoke."

JUST A COUPLE OF CRACKERS
"So you have just got another parrot, Mr. Jones?"
"Yes, my wife had one; so I thought I would get one."

"Do they talk?"
"Rather! My wife's says 'You have dropped some ash on the carpet' and mine says 'The bacon is burnt again!'"

DESTRUCTIVE CRITICISM
Stranger—Hey, that's no way to hoist a piano.
Foreman—Do you own the piano?
Stranger—No, I own the building.
Foreman—That's different; boys, be careful of them corners—bricks cost money!—Brooklyn Eagle.

The world was made in seven days. You see, it wasn't necessary to wait on some commission's report.—The Richmond News Leader.

THINKS DIESEL ENGINE WILL ADD TO SAFETY IN AIR

Would Minimize Danger Of Explosions And Fires After Crashes

International News Service. LOS ANGELES Cal. Feb. 22.—Explosions and fires following forced landings, the cause of so many air tragedies, will be eliminated when the aeronautical industry develops and adopts Diesel type engines, modified to economize on weight but burning the heavy oil fuel used in such power plants, is the belief of Charles F. Willard, well known aeronautical engineer.

Use of heavy oil for fuel, with elimination of the electrical ignition system and carburetors, says Willard, will eliminate danger of explosion because the fuel is non-explosive except under the great compression of the Diesel cylinder.

"I have seen a fire put out with it," the engineer declared. Further the elimination of valves, valve gears, spark-plugs, wires, switches, carburetor, spark-advance mechanism, choke and heater controls, two magnets, and other gear of the gas engine, means greater safety because there is less to get out of order. For this reason, oil burners are more reliable.

The great problem in the development of Diesel engines for aircraft use has been the weight per horsepower of the true Diesel type, which is primarily a slow speed mechanism. Willard says the weight problem is being solved by the introduction of the two-cycle principle. The ideal motor for aircraft, he believes, will be a compression ignition, fuel injection engine, built on the two-cycle principle, and burning oil for fuel. Such an engine will weigh less per horsepower than a gasoline motor, Willard prophesies.

Out at the Lehigh cement office today a lot of eyes will be turned to this column concerning a battle held last night. And not a word will they find concerning it. Not a word. After all some things are too delicate to mention here, and anyway there's the sport page.

Just another of life's little tragedies. And some of those cement mixers today are chucking with an unholy glee over the outcome.

Among the bankers this is Washington's Birthday. Among the rest of us it is February 22nd, with flags cut along the sidewalk to denote that it is a holiday. If the first president could come back today, and see what difficulties the present presidents are having with the senate, the chances are that George would be rather relieved to know that he had served his time in a day when the bloc system had not yet become known.

Got a billet doux from Bob Graham of Westminster College today. Seems as though the populace is considerably agog and agitated, about the coming basketball games with Duquesne and Grove City. Winning two of that calibre in a week would be something like shooting a hole in one, or bowling a perfect 300 score. Or making a grand slam after being doubled and redoubled.

Jokey Travers gets up to New Wilmington at least once a year and the once is when Duquesne plays Westminster. And I remember that dirty chuckle last year.

Basketball is on its last legs or its last something or other. Football will have to move over a bit in the closet of forgetfulness, and let basketball have a place to park. Already the golf goofs are shining up clubs, the baseball teams are going south, and Hub Hart is talking about the Municipal course.

The announcement by the South Side Board of Trade that it is urging a concrete road from New Castle to West Pittsburg is being received enthusiastically. Gleefully, in fact for this road has been needed for many years. If you ever had to make a trip over that road on a wet night, you probably understand the reason for the enthusiasm and glee.

With the announcement that the Ellwood-Portersville road will be under contract in a short time, with the Perry highway under contract for the coming spring, with the Enon Valley road and bridge under contract, there is a lot of cement promised for Lawrence county roads this summer.

These news photographs which are seen in windows about the city bring back memories at times. Saw two lads going by a window the other afternoon in which there was a picture of a ship. They stopped for a moment and then a reminiscence of one of them remarked, "I was a stoker on that ship."

Let Contract On Cleveland Link

GREENVILLE, Pa., Feb. 22.—With the signing of the contract for the new West Salem road from the Ohio line to Maysville, plans were completed for the newest link of concrete in Mercer county.

The road is a part of a longer stretch which will eventually connect Greenville with Cleveland by the shortest hard surface road yet built. The link, for which contracts were awarded last week in Harrisburg, is to cost $201,000.

Architects tell us that in another generation the dining room will pass out of the average American home, but we may console ourselves with the hope that it may linger for a time in the breakfast nook.—The Worcester Evening Gazette.
